JFK, Mikoyan To Have Chat

Washington (AP)—The White House announced Tuesday that President Kennedy will confer with Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan here Thursday afternoon.

The Washington visit by Mikoyan, whom many regard as the No. 1 Soviet official under Premier Khrushchev, opened the way for a broadening of U.S.-Soviet discussions which in past weeks have been confined to the Cuban crisis.

Assistant Presidential Press Secretary Malcolm Kilduff announced that Mikoyan, now in New York after a lengthy stay in Havana, will be in Washington Thursday and Friday.

Other Officials

Mikoyan's White House appointment was set 3:30 p.m. CST Thursday. The Russian leader is expected to see Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other U.S. officials during his stay.

The still-unsolved Cuban dispute is expected to be on the agenda for the Mikoyan visit. But informants said that now that the main part of the Cuban crisis is over, the talks with Mikoyan are likely to cover a broad range of issues.

That would amount to somewhat of a thaw of the freeze on diplomatic dealings with the Soviets which Kennedy imposed at the start of confrontation with Russia over Cuba.

Focus on Cuba

Aides said the President at that time directed that dealings with the Russian focus on the Cuban issue until U.S. demands for the removal of offensive weapons from Cuba were accepted. How much of a thaw develops would depend on how well negotiations with the Soviets proceed in New York.

Khrushchev has now removed medium and intermediate range missiles and promised to remove his medium jet bombers from Cuba. And while the issue of international inspection to make sure that Cuba is kept free of the weapons is still unresolved, U.S. officials said that could be attended to in the U.S.-Soviet negotiations under way in New York.

Kennedy is expected to talk to Mikoyan about disarmament and a nuclear test ban and other items, including a reduction of East-West tensions generally.

Possibility

In their public exchange of messages proposing a Cuban settlement, both Kennedy and Khrushchev spoke of the possibility of going on to new efforts to hold back the arms race.

There had been reports that Kennedy would not take the initiative in arranging a meeting with Mikoyan, although the administration was highly interested in the results of his extended talks with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Asked who requested the Kennedy-Mikoyan conference, Kilduff would say only that it is a "mutually agreed meeting."

Guard At Studio Shoots 6 Actors

Hollywood (UPI)—Six actors working in a movie starring Spencer Tracy were shot and wounded Tuesday following an argument between an extra player and a guard at Revue Studios.

The actors, part of a group of 2,000 extras hired for crowd scenes in producer Stanley Kramer's movie "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," were leaving the studio after completing the day's filming when the shooting occurred. None were seriously wounded.

The actors were waiting to board busses to leave the set, a spokesman for Kramer said, when an argument between actor Allan Salin, 26, and guard Vance Boyd, 35, broke out. Tracy was not on the lot. The guard ordered Salin not to board the studio bus until an assistant director said the day's work was completed. Salin reportedly hit the guard who then pulled his pistol and fired into the street.

Self Defense

Police said Boyd claimed he shot Salin in self defense after the actor hit him. The guard fired 3 bullets, two of which were intended as warning shots. Five other actors were injured by ricocheting bullets.

They were, Danny Hadzic, Hollywood, Dalene Young, 23, Hollywood, Mary Anne Schmidt, 22, North Hollywood, Charna E. McNeill, Hollywood, and Wayne Anderson, Torrance, a trainer for the Los Angeles Dodgers baseball team.

Salin was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Burbank, where his condition was described as "fair." The others were treated at the Revue Studios Hospital and released.

To Station

The guard was taken to the West Hollywood sheriff's station.

After questioning by sheriff's deputies, Boyd was booked on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Lockheed, Machinists Quit Talks

Burbank, Calif. (AP)—Lockheed Aircraft Co. and the International Association of Machinists broke off talks Tuesday night, and a union spokesman said a nationwide strike against Lockheed was certain to start a minute after midnight.

Machinists already had struck Lockheed facilities at Cape Canaveral, Fla., where the midnight deadline was reached 3 hours earlier because of the time difference.

In Washington, sources close to the White House had indicated that if the picketing extended to missile bases the government might move before the end of the week to obtain a Taft-Hartley Act injunction. This would provide an 80-day cooling-off period during which no strike could be conducted.

The union spokesman here said the two sides were "hopelessly stalemated and they won't be called back tonight."

"The strike is going to go forward," the spokesman said.

The union says upward of 20,000 union members will be involved in the strike. Some 31,000 workers, including non-union employees, would be affected by the walkout.

Lockheed workers in Hawaii also would be involved but the overwhelming majority of those affected are in California.

SOVIET WAAVERS?

... Castro Backing Reported Easing

By BRUCE W. MUNN

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI)—Russia was reported Tuesday night to have dropped its support for Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's 5-point demands for a crisis settlement, including U.S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo Bay Naval Base.

Reliable sources said Acting Secretary General Thant passed on this information to confidants Tuesday.

However, the Soviet Union was reported supporting Castro's resistance to U.S. demands for on-site inspection of offensive weapons systems in Cuba and insisting upon reciprocal inspection of "invasion" bases in Florida.

Confirmation Lacking

Neither U.S. nor Soviet sources confirmed the report.

It was understood the Russian position was made clear to Thant by Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan when the two conferred briefly before a dinner given for the top U.S. and Russian crisis negotiators by the U.N. chief executive Monday night.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and trouble-shooter John J. McCloy reported to President Kennedy in Washington on the results of the dinner, in which it was assumed that Mikoyan had discussed the Soviet position in the light of his recently concluded 24-day mission to Havana for talks with Castro.

Diplomatic sources said the Soviet-Cuban insistence on reciprocal on-site inspection put the situation back to roughly where it was before the crisis became public knowledge with Kennedy's televised statement of Oct. 22.

Washington Insistent

Washington has insisted that all provisions of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's pledge of "adequate verification" of the removal of Russian offensive weapons and foolproof safeguards against their re-introduction into the island must be met before the United States would comply with a pledge against an invasion of Cuba.

If the inspection demand is not met—and diplomats ruled out any possibility of reciprocal inspection—the pre-crisis status quo would be maintained, and the United States would rely on its aerial surveillance to be certain that offensive weapons did not again enter Cuba.

With these reports, the likelihood of a Security Council wrapup of the Cuban crisis this week faded. It was possible that the United States, Russia, Cuba and Thant might all settle for filing letters on their position with the council and let the issue die quietly here.

Ebel Heads Centennial Body

... HAS UNDERSTANDING WITH MORRISON

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A. James Ebel of Lincoln Tuesday was elected chairman of the Nebraska Centennial Commission after an understanding with Gov. Frank Morrison that remaining on the commission was not an implication that he supports the Morrison administration.

This was the newest development in the controversy which has swarmed around the commission since Morrison fired 3 of its original members—Republicans Val Peterson of Hastings and Floyd Wisner of Scottsbluff, and Mrs. Ralph G. Brooks of McCook, a Democrat.

Morrison Monday had announced he was naming Republicans Maurice Hevelone of Beatrice and Earl Cherry of Mitchell to succeed Peterson and Wisner, and Democrat Mrs. Edith Swain McDermott of Greeley to succeed Mrs. Brooks.

A fourth member of the commission, Norfolk radio station manager Bob Thomas, resigned last week stating that he didn't think he could qualify to serve as a Morrison appointee if the governor desired his appointees to consistently endorse his administration.

Resignation Accepted

After a telephone conversation with Thomas Tuesday morning, Morrison said he was accepting his resignations from the commission and State Educational Television Committee, but not for the "reasons given in the newspapers."

Peterson and Ebel breakfasted at the Mansion Tuesday with Morrison.

Peterson said Morrison asked him to preside at Tuesday's meeting, but the former governor reminded Morrison that he had been fired from the post by Morrison himself and would therefore be "an interloper" at the meeting.

Peterson said he had told the governor, however, that he would be happy to continue working with the commission in an advisory capacity.

Peterson said he thought Morrison had made a "bad blunder" in removing the 3 members, and said he told him at the breakfast that "he (Morrison) is going to have to live with it."

When the commission convened, 6 of its original 10 members were still in active service. Mrs. Brooks also was present.

The 6 original members still serving are: Francis Dischner of Columbus, W. D. Aeschbacher of Lincoln, Ebel, Gerald McGinley of Ogallala, and Frank Latenser and John Rosenblatt, both of Omaha.

Members Thanked

Governor Morrison opened the meeting with a brief address thanking all members for the work they had done on the commission "up to this time."

Morrison said he was "human enough" to have "taken notice" of newspaper reports concerning the recent controversy over removal of the members, but said the stories "of course don't reflect the factual situation."

He said it was never his intention to "inject political partisanship into this commission."

At the conclusion of his remarks, the governor suggested that the meeting be turned over to Ebel.

Commission Counsel Robert Crosby told the group Mrs. Brooks had asked him to explain she was present because Aeschbacher had invited her to attend, and also because of two recent deaths in the family she had not been home for two weeks and did not yet have personal notification of her dismissal.

The commission then elected Ebel to succeed Peterson as chairman, McGinley to succeed Mrs. Brooks as vice chairman, and re-elected Aeschbacher as secretary.

The commission passed a resolution thanking all of its former members for their "outstanding service" to the commission, nothing they had accomplished a "terrific amount of work," and hoping "we can have their good offices and good service throughout."

Explaining his position later, Ebel said Morrison had asked him to remain on the commission, but the Lincoln television executive said he had made it clear to the governor that his remaining does not imply he supports the Morrison administration or that his television station might not take an editorial position against Morrison at a later date.

He added that Morrison told him there would be "no conflict."

Gen. Wood Retires As Chief Of Guard

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Tuesday night he has approved the retirement application of Maj. Gen. Warren C. Wood, commanding general of the 34th Infantry Division, Iowa-Nebraska Army National Guard.

Retirement terminates 38 years of military service by Gen. Wood, editor and publisher of the Gering Courier and president of the Scottsbluff Star-Herald. He has commanded the division since 1954.

He will be succeeded as division commander by an Iowa.

The post rotates to the state of Iowa under terms of a written agreement between the two states dating back to reorganization of the guard after World War II.

Identity of the new commander was not announced in Lincoln.

It was presumed the present assistant division commander, Brig. Gen. Frank P. Williams of Waterloo, Iowa, would step up to the post being vacated by Gen. Wood.

Military service has been combined with a variety of civic and fraternal activities for Gen. Wood, a past president of the Nebraska Press Association and past commander of the American Legion.

During his 264 days of World War II combat he was wounded twice while commanding the 3rd Battalion, 134th Infantry and was relieved from active duty Oct. 14, 1945.

Wave Of Crime Hits Great Britain

PAYROLL IS GRABBED
... At London Airport

London (AP)—A band of masked men grabbed a $175,000 payroll at London Airport Tuesday in the latest strike of a crime wave — ranging from a train robbery to a raid on an armored car.

Scotland Yard detectives were run ragged by the outbreak of daring armed robberies and thefts that have yielded nearly a million dollars worth of loot and resulted in one murder.

Operating with military precision in broad daylight, Tuesday a gang of bandits grabbed a payroll worth 62,500 pounds from an airline office at the airport.

Witnesses said 4 British Overseas Airways Corp., security guards were carrying the payroll in a strongbox. They rang for an elevator to take them to BOAC office on the second floor.

Striped Pants and Derby Hats

When the elevator opened, 5 men—their faces covered by nylon stockings — sprang out. Three more of the gang raced down the adjoining staircase. Two of these wore the traditional British executive dress of striped pants, black derby hats and carried rolled umbrellas.

They slugged the guards and made a getaway through a seldom used airport gate in two cars.

It was the biggest coup since cracksmen opened 5 safes in a block of offices near Piccadilly Circus Oct. 8 and stole jewels worth about 100,000 pounds ($280,000).

Even as Scotland Yard began investigating the latest robbery, detectives in Liverpool announced they had arrested a man in connection with the theft of 45,000 pounds ($126,000) from an armored truck at Liverpool docks two weeks ago.

GOV. BROWN BELIEVES CALIFORNIA NOW FIRST

Sacramento, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Tuesday he believes California has passed New York and now is the most populous state in the nation.

The governor told a news conference that statisticians in the state department of finance have told him that, based on estimates since the last federal census in 1960, that California now is the first state in the nation.

"I know we'll run into some argument and debate over that statement," he said, "but I think we've already passed New York."

Earlier in the year, department of finance experts had predicted that California would become first in population about Dec. 21.

Last week, the U.S. Census Bureau estimated that between the 1960 census and last July 1 California's population increased by 1,253,000 to give it a total of 16,970,000. In the same period, the bureau estimated New York gained 619,000 to a total of 17,402,000.

The governor said he intends to give the state's 100,000 state employees a holiday on Monday, Dec. 31, if it is legally possible to do so, to celebrate California passing New York.

97 Lost In A Jet Crash

... NEAR LIMA, PERU

Lima, Peru (AP)—A Brazilian jet airliner on a flight to Los Angeles crashed and burned before dawn Tuesday on a barren hilltop near a suburban slum called City of God. All 97 persons aboard were killed.

The Brazilian airline, Varig, said 17 of the 80 passengers aboard the Boeing 707 carried U.S. passports. The plane had a crew of 17.

Among those who perished in the crash were a Peruvian Cabinet minister and several top Cuban officials, including Raul Cepero Bonilla, Cuba National Bank president and a top economic adviser to Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

It was Peru's worst air disaster and eighth worst in aviation history. It also was the fifth major air disaster in 5 days, and the second within 24 hours involving Brazilian planes. Eighty-four persons perished in the 4 other crashes.

Rescuers Reach Summit

By sundown, rescue workers who reached the summit of the steep hill after an hour-long climb had gathered 56 bodies.

One helicopter managed to land, but it seemed that the bodies would have to be placed on stretchers and carried down or lowered down the hill.

The airliner was only minutes away from a landing in Lima when the captain radioed, "This is an emergency." Nothing further was heard from the plane.

The impact stripped many bodies of their clothes.

The flight originated in Brazil. Only 9 passengers were booked all the way through to Los Angeles and none of these was listed by Varig as holding American passports. The rest of the passengers were to have gotten off at Latin American stops on the flight north.

Carry U.S. Passports

Passengers listed as carrying American passports were: Bramwell Edward Freeman, Gustav Maurer, Paul Best, Sidney Brudick, Lucille Burdick, William Joseph Bayless, Katherine Alicia Rock, Katherine Rock, David Thomas Rock, Roberto Miguel Rock, Heitor Hernandez, Luisa Hernandez, Walter Echtenkamp and Ove Arne Person, Robert Morris, Helen Morris and Walter Curtis Garner.

Best was president of California Crude Sales Co. of San Francisco, a Standard Oil Co. of California subsidiary. A Standard employee since 1949, Best would have been 52 Wednesday. He was en route from Rio de Janeiro to Lima.

Kennedy, Macmillan To Meet In Bahamas Dec. 19

Washington (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will meet in the Bahamas — probably in Nassau — Dec. 19 and 20 for a far-ranging review of world affairs.

The White House, announcing this Tuesday, did not specify Nassau as the site but a spokesman noted that Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger was in Nassau Tuesday.

Salinger and other White House aides normally visit presidential conference locations in advance to make arrangements. London press reports also stated that a British Foreign Office official flew to Nassau a few days ago.

The meeting, unofficially forecast since last week is the sixth between Kennedy and Macmillan and comes at a time Western strategists have called an "important turning point" in East-West relations.

Macmillan will arrive almost immediately after a scheduled conference with President Charles de Gaulle of France and Kennedy will have the enhanced stature resulting from forcing the removal of Soviet missiles — and by that time presumably Soviet bombers also — from Cuba.

The White House shed little light on what they would discuss.

Wide Range Likely

London (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan Tuesday night disclosed new Western moves have begun for a bit-by-bit settlement of the cold war with the Soviet Union. He told Parliament he intends to discuss a wide range of measures designed to ease East-West tensions in the aftermath of Cuba when he meets President de Gaulle and President Kennedy separately next month.

Macmillan did not say if any new propositions will be examined for submission to Moscow.

Answering questions, Macmillan listed some of what he called the more immediate and practical problems which he will take up with de Gaulle and Kennedy.

Macmillan gave these major talking points:

1. Measures to be taken in the first stage of a general disarmament program. Existing Western plans call for a gradual cutback of armaments and nuclear weapon delivery vehicles, a reduction of U.S. and Soviet armed forces, and curbs on nuclear weapon production. There also would be a control on the use of outer space to prevent weapons of mass destruction from being put in orbit.
2. The banning of nuclear weapon tests. Russia and the West cannot agree on a system to guard against cheating. The system must allow for some kind of verification, in the West's view.
3. Measures to guard against surprise attack.

These would include action to strengthen the peace-keeping machinery of the United Nations. A U.S. peace force and a peace observation corps are envisaged.

45.1 Million Gallons Taxed In September

Taxes were paid on 45,161,968 gallons of motor fuel imported into Nebraska during September, the State Department of Roads reported Tuesday.

It represents an increase of 5% over September 1961. The total gallonage imported during the first 9 months of this year is 6% above the same period in 1961.

The total gallonage includes special fuels for trucks and buses, but not refund gallonage nor that used in aviation or agriculture.

SORRY, SALLY

But You Can't Have That Burro

New York (AP)—An open letter to "Sally Z" of Hooke, Mass.:

Sorry, Sally, you can't have a Sardinian burro. The city Purchase Department decided Tuesday not to see it to you because, as you noted in your letter to the department, you are only "nine and three-quarters years old."

True, the department has widely publicized its intention of selling the burro along with a number of other surplus animals from the Central Park Zoo, but we're afraid you can't have the yak, two elks, rabbits or guinea pigs either.

Mind you, we are sure you would give the burro a good home. You noted in your letter that "I know it will be happy with me because our dog, cat and canary are happy" and "I know pretty well how to take care of a burro."

Nobody doubts your word, but there is this rule about minors not being qualified to do business with a governmental agency, and the city purchase department is just that.

So, honey, you'll have to content yourself with the dog, cat and canary, for the time being anyway.

P.S. If you have any grownup friends, the department will accept bids from them for the surplus animals until 11 a.m. Friday.

U.S. PLANE SHOT DOWN

Vientiane, Laos (UPI) — Communist Pathet Lao troops shot down an American supply plane Tuesday and fired into wreckage presumed to contain the aircraft's two American crewmen, a spokesman for the neutralist Laotian government said Wednesday.

The spokesman, a coalition government official speaking for Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma, gave no indication whether the two Americans survived the crash or the shooting.

He said Souvanna Phouma had in effect issued orders to his own forces to prevent the Pathet Lao from violating the Laotian cease-fire.

The U.S. transport plane, carrying food and relief supplies, was reported shot down as it was landing at Xieng Khouang 128 miles northeast of here. Xieng Khouang is in the central Plain of Jars, a communist stronghold.

Adenauer Agrees To Strauss' Ouster

Bonn (UPI) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer agreed Tuesday to dismiss controversial Defense Minister Franz-Josef Strauss as the price for ending his worst government crisis in the 13 years he has held power, authoritative sources said Tuesday.

Adenauer was reported to have decided on the move in a meeting with Erich Mende, leaders of the Free Democratic (FDP) Party which formed a junior partnership with Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party. Five FDP members of the cabinet resigned in anger over Strauss' political activities.

Informed sources said Adenauer planned to make Strauss the parliamentary floor leader of the Christian Democrats, replacing Former Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano who would become justice minister. FDP Justice Minister Wolfgang Stammberger has said he is leaving the government for good.

Housing Minister Paul Luecke, 48, a one-legged war veteran, would become defense minister. But Luecke was reported to have told Adenauer he was willing to take the job only if the 86-year-old chancellor insisted. Later he stiffened his opposing to taking Strauss' job.

He told newsmen he believes in the saying, "Carpenter stick to your trade." His aides said Adenauer will have to do a lot of persuading to convince their chief to accept the post.

Although Strauss was reported agreeable to giving up his post, Adenauer was said to have met stormy opposition when he broke the news to a closed door meeting of his Christian Democratic (CDU) deputies.

The CDU has supported Strauss in the 4-week old political battle over his part in a government security crack-down on the news magazine Der Spiegel. The Free Democrats said Strauss ordered the arrest of Der Spiegel editors without informing the FDP justice minister.

Strauss is head of the Christian Social Union (CSU), the Christian Democratic wing in Bavaria. He led his party to victory in elections Sunday in Bavaria, a move which made it more difficult for Adenauer to fire him.

Adenauer needs Free Democratic support to get a workable majority in parliament but there are so few Bavarian ministers he can get along without them. Tuesday, Mende told UPI he and Adenauer agreed to continue the coalition which would give Adenauer a majority.

CAB Suspends Frontier Airlines Denver-KC Fare

Washington (AP)—A proposed one-way first class air fare of $34 set by Frontier Airlines between Denver and Kansas City has been suspended by the Civil Aeronautics Board. Frontier had planned to introduce the fare Dec. 1 on flights by way of Lincoln, Neb.

The CAB suspended it until next Feb. 28, pending an investigation.

Frontier now has a Denver-Kansas City fare of $45.50 for travel by way of Grand Island or Hastings, Neb.

The CAB said the proposed new first class fare was below the normal level of coach fares in the market involved and might seriously disrupt existing fare structures without providing sufficient traffic to offset the potential loss of revenue.

Harvest Of Bumper Crops Nearing End

... Grain Losses Smallest In Years

Grain losses during the harvest of Nebraska's bumper corn and milo crops have been the smallest in several years, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Lodging has been light because of the lack of snow, and losses from wind have been less than usual, according to the weekly crop review of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Corn and milo harvesting was virtually wrapped up last week.

Bank Decision For Gresham Under Study

Gresham (UPI) — The future of this tiny southeastern Nebraska community's only bank hinges on a joint decision to be made Wednesday by officials of the York State Bank and representatives of the Gresham State Bank.

A meeting between the two will climax weeks of wondering about what will happen to the Gresham bank and, more important, whether the bank's depositors will lose any money.

Ralph Misko, director of the State Banking Department, said Tuesday he was informed a meeting will take place in York Wednesday "at which a final decision on whether to reorganize the bank or not will be reached." York bank officials confirmed the meeting.

Misko added that "no matter what" he will take action either to aid reorganization or to place the bank into receivership — which would result in some loss to depositors.

The principal parties attempting to reorganize the bank are York bank President Dean Sack and his son, Roger, who is bank vice president. Representing the Gresham bank are stockholders David Yung, bank president, William Hunter of Omaha and his wife.

Roger Sack told United Press International that the two parties met Tuesday in York "and had a long session at which we discussed the entire bank situation."

He said the York bank has arrived at a figure they are willing to pay to reorganize the bank and that it's a matter of the Gresham representatives going along with this figure.

Sack, however, said no definite decision has been reached and that the Gresham representatives asked for another day to review the York proposal. He told UPI that if the Gresham group agrees to the proposal "we will begin immediately to re-establish the bank and under a plan that will not result in any loss to depositors."

Sack said the Gresham representatives "are bending over backwards" to reorganize the bank "without wiping themselves out completely."

The "grey" area between the two parties seems to be whether or not the Gresham stockholders can raise enough cash to meet the York bank's figure, UPI learned.

Misko has been attempting to reorganize the Gresham bank ever since its exposure in October. The York State Bank has been the only interested party of late.

If the bank goes into receivership, which it must if reorganization is not realized, bank depositors stand to lose as much as 25 to 50 cents on the dollar.

'San Antonio

Rose' Ban Sought

Omaha (P) — A suit has been filed in Federal District Court here seeking to restrain Herman Bloebaum from having the song "San Antonio Rose," played at his River-view Inn near Columbus.

The plaintiff is Mary M. Bourne, whose petition says she acquired the copyright through a series of business transactions. It was written in 1940 by Bob Wills and assigned for copyright to Irving Berlin, Inc.

The suit alleges the song was performed at Bloebaum's place by a band earlier this year without the copyright owner's knowledge or consent, and without paying royalties.

corn was harvested, about 10% ahead of last year and equally ahead of normal.

The sorghum harvest was complete except for occasional fields in scattered areas.

Yields of both crops have been running unusually high in most areas, although some fields in a few southeast counties were damaged by winds.

Winter wheat was reported in good condition with well developed roots but the unusually rank top growth is causing growers some concern. Many fields are being grazed by livestock, the crop report said.

Leaf rust which has been widespread was checked by freezing temperatures. A few fields are infected with mosaic and many fields in southern counties have turned yellow although this latter condition seems to have stabilized during the past week.

Need Moisture

Moisture would be beneficial for winter grains and a snow cover would be welcome to provide winter protection.

Other crop report observations:

Combining of castor beans has been moving along rapidly.

The open fall has permitted farmers to make good progress on fall plowing and other pre-winter tasks.

Some irrigation wells have been running to replenish soil moisture reserves.

In the upper Platte Valley, dry bean fields are being tilled to prevent wind erosion. Ranges and pastures continue in good to excellent condition and provide ample forage, although grass is quite dry.

Cattle and calves are thriving because the absence of snow cover has permitted full utilization of pastures and harvested stalk fields.

Autopsy Ordered In Child's Death; Dies Of Injuries

Omaha (P)—Five-year-old Debra Braddock died Tuesday of injuries she received under unexplained circumstances Sunday.

She suffered a skull fracture, multiple body bruises and a severe elbow injury.

Ray E. Monical, 30, who lived with the child and her mother, told police Tuesday Debra was hurt when she fell down the basement stairs. Earlier he had told officers he did not know how she was injured. He had said also that he was the girl's step-father.

The county attorney's office ordered an autopsy, and detectives said they planned further questioning of Monical.

Man Fighting Prairie Fire Dies Of Burns

Omaha (P) — Gene Lynch, 38, of Thedford, who was burned while fighting a prairie fire on the Johnson ranch southwest of Thedford Nov. 6, died in an Omaha hospital Tuesday.

Lynch, a volunteer firefighter, was one of the 8 men caught in a fire pocket as they battled to keep the flames from spreading to tree plantings in the Nebraska National forest near Halsey.

Four of the men, including Lynch, suffered burns. Lynch was flown to Omaha the following day and has been under treatment for his burns since that time.

Also burned were Lawrence Pearson and William Roe of Thedford, both of whom have since been dismissed from the hospital; and Clark Wilson, now reported recovering in a Mullen hospital.

Lynch is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Lynch of Thedford, and 4 brothers.

None Injured As Gas Transport Burns In Crash

Aurora (P)—A 1,200-gallon gasoline transport truck and its contents were destroyed by fire Tuesday after a car-truck collision at a railroad crossing about one mile west of Aurora.

Fred Schafer of Aurora, driver of the transport, and Lawrence C. Hoyt, Des Moines, Iowa, driver of the passenger car, escaped serious injury.

REPORTS INDICATE POPE ILL

Vatican City (UPI)—Pope John XXIII cancelled his audiences Tuesday amid unconfirmed reports that he was ill.

There was no official word from the Vatican on the health of the Pope, who was 81 years old Sunday.

Normal Vatican sources gave conflicting reports about his health, although at least one report was printed saying he was ill.

One high Vatican source quoted an official of the Vatican secretariat of state as saying, "the Pope has a cold."

Some Vatican sources said the Pope, who has been suffering prostate gland trouble, had taken a turn for the worse. They said this was the reason why he had cancelled a number of audiences.

If true, this would be the first time Pope John has cancelled audiences for reasons of health since he became pontiff in October, 1958.

In Rome, meanwhile, there were a number of insistent rumors about the Pope's illness. One French newspaper, France Soir, reported under a Vatican City dateline that the Pope was undergoing treatment and there possibly would be an operation.

It is known that a year ago the Pope had begun suffering with prostate gland trouble. But it was learned that after a month his condition improved.

It also was known that his condition had worsened during the past few months. But Tuesday's cancellation of audiences, if his health was the reason, indicated his condition might be more serious than believed.

Lincoln Coed Models During 4-H Congress

Chicago (P)—Eighteen-year-old Wallis J. Lundeen of Lincoln, Nebraska's dress revue state winner, modeled her homemade clothing at the Hotel Grand in Chicago Tuesday.

She was one of 51 state and territorial revue winners who modeled at the 41st National 4-H Club Congress.

Miss Lundeen modeled a 100% wool brown suit.

A freshman at the University of Nebraska, Wallis makes nearly all of her clothing and has won numerous awards.

Ord—Valley County's oldest resident and one of the oldest in Nebraska, Mrs. Mary Purcell, celebrated her 105th birthday Tuesday.

Despite her advanced age, Mrs. Purcell is in fairly good health, although not able to get around much by herself. She watches television some, but due to poor hearing is not able to do much visiting.

She makes her home with a daughter, Mrs. Joe Marks, 78. Another daughter, Mrs. Alfred Weigardt, lives in San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Purcell's husband, Andy, died in 1942.

Mrs. Purcell has 8 grandchildren, 11 great grandchildren and 12 great great grandchildren.

Only twice in her life has she been sick. Many years ago she had an attack of near pneumonia. About 10 years ago she suffered a broken hip from which she has recovered.

No special celebration was planned for Mrs. Purcell's birthday, although a number of relatives and neighbors stopped by to extend greetings.

Ford ideas so contagious they started a new trend in cars!

If you think most cars today have a lot in common, you can blame the Ford sketches above.

This handful of Ford ideas sparked a revolution in car design and fathered most of the excitement you'll find in cars today.

Ford ideas have a habit of being exciting (and downright practical, too). Consider these new ideas found in our '63s: the 1963 Ford Galaxie's new velvet ride that smooths out any road at any speed (it cost Ford $10 million to bring it to you but it doesn't cost you a cent extra)...consider full twice-a-year or every 6,000-mile maintenance* that takes the fuss out of driving and keeps the fun in (and saves you money in the bargain) ... consider a new 3-speed fully synchronized transmission that lets you shift from second to first without coming to a stop ... consider the largest choice of new cars ever offered — 44 models to help you find exactly the car to fit your needs and your budget.

These are samples of the new Ford ideas. Only Ford offers you these advantages now... though we have no doubt that the other makes will get around to them eventually. So if you want to get the car of tomorrow today... if you want the features of the future now... we can offer only one suggestion: See your Ford Dealer today!

Business Of Uncertainties

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Edgar Z. Palmer of the University of Nebraska Bureau of Business Research in a recent publication engages in what he describes as "a few random thoughts on various subjects." The common trend throughout his article is uncertainty—a subject that at first glance might not appear as a practical one for a man such as Dr. Palmer who deals effectively with the many statistics of business.

But Dr. Palmer is the first to admit the uncertainty of what he does. "Statistical analysis," he writes, "is useful in the immense territory lying between the completely knowable and the completely unknowable. The physical scientists have been very lucky, in that they could begin with reactions that were, within the range of their observation, completely knowable. There seems to be no nonsense about water, for example. It is composed of two atoms of hydrogen and one atom of oxygen, and nothing else. No fractions, no variations, but absolutely two and one. After building a whole science on such certainties, the chemists have begun to discover isotopes of hydrogen and oxygen, of slightly different weights, which mix in and upset the exact atomic weight formulas slightly, but the chemists are now able to take care of such variations."

"In the social sciences we have had no such luck. All the relationships we study are full of variations. None is a simple two-to-one affair. The completely knowable does not exist in this field. On the other hand, the social scientist works with the faith that the completely unknowable does not exist either."

"The social sciences (history, political science, sociology, economics, and others) are working toward the discovery of laws of human behavior in the mass. That these laws exist and operate to keep human society working, the social scientist believes, albeit they are hidden behind a screen of variations."

Applying a little of the social science about which he speaks, Dr. Palmer explained that the war was not the only cause of the sudden increase in the birth rate just prior to World War II. Other factors include the changing public outlook on large families and the changing role of women in modern society. Over a long period of years, it became possible for women both to work and raise a family and it was just as fashionable to have four or five children as it once was to have only one or two. This explanation is probably a pretty good example of the uncertainty cited by Dr. Palmer throughout the social sciences. Dr. Palmer may be exactly right in his analysis of the changing family pattern but he can have no guarantee of this. Certainly, his explanation has a great deal of truth in it but it may not be the entire answer to this changing social pattern.

He did not consider, for instance, the rising economic level of the war years. At the time when larger families were beginning to become more prominent, when the birth rate started increasing, the nation was about fully emerged from the depression of the thirties. Certainly, hard times economically would tend to have a drastic effect upon the birth rate. Economics, in fact, is probably the greatest single influence of all upon the social patterns that emerge from time to time. With jobs hard to find and pay low when a job is found, there is a tendency to delay marriage. Once a couple are married, hard times will bring on more family planning than would otherwise be the case. The expense of family responsibilities is assumed with great caution when work opportunities are scarce and of limited reward.

One can see how the social sciences are so closely related and what clear patterns seem to emerge, despite the fundamental uncertainty of things. It can be seen that hard times tend to breed hard times and good times tend to perpetuate themselves. The lower level of living and smaller family units characteristic of hard times are a contributing factor to continuation of those times.

With smaller families and less going on, there is less demand for goods and services which means fewer jobs and still more difficult times. But when the economy perks up, just the opposite thing happens. As more jobs become available and pay gets higher, the tendency is to do more and to have larger families, thereby creating a growing demand for goods and services.

At the same time, it is next to impossible to set down the facts by which an intelligent decision on our social patterns can be made. This is because we still cannot figure out exactly how and why things begin to happen as they do. Why are voting patterns across the nation as they are and why will they shift from time to time? Why will some people react one way and some another way under the same circumstances? Why are members of even the same family often so different in their makeup, in their personality, in their likes and dislikes? Why are large families popular in one era and unpopular in another? It is no wonder that the social scientists are still searching for answers to problems that have been with us for centuries.

Seeking The Answers

Back At Stockpiling

By all reports coming from federal sources the country is surfeited with uranium ore. It has manufactured enough fissionable material to lay waste to the world several times over. And as yet there is no other substantial market for the metal.

Nevertheless, the Atomic Energy Commission recently announced that it would continue to purchase ore through 1966. It will spend something like $214 million for an additional 16,000 tons.

The AEC gives, as its reason, the availability of keeping the mines going until the civilian atomic power program gets going. The target date for that is 1970.

On examination of that one may ask, if continuing purchases will keep the mines going until 1966, what is going to keep them going until 1970? One may also ask how firm is the 1970 target date for the civilian atomic energy program?

It suggests that a commitment to buy until 1966 will call for a recommitment until 1970. Then if the civilian program does not jell by that time there will have to be further recommitments. Looking at it that way one can conclude that the AEC is simply out stockpiling, less to take care of the national need and more to subsidize a mining business. That leads us back to the criticism of the general stockpiling program which scandalized the country when it developed into a grand scale subsidy operation largely on terms of the suppliers.

Cities Seek State Help

It was to be expected that Nebraska cities would make the plea they have for the state to assume responsibility for construction and maintenance of highways within the metropolitan areas. Involved are all cities in the state with a population of 5,000 or more. Presently, the state is not adding new mileage to its system nor is it building those highway roads that run through the urban centers of the state.

There are two reasons for the state policy. For one thing, the state does not have the money to assume responsibility for roads within the cities of Nebraska. Secondly, there is a question of benefit in regard to these roads. Both reasons, however, are weak and fail to give the state adequate support of its policy.

The State Highway Department has a responsibility to study all of its needs and to present its case forcefully to the Legislature. It is wrong for the department to decide for itself that certain things cannot be done because of the lack of funds. The question of funds should be decided by the Legislature, not the administrative end of the government.

While the present gasoline tax is probably as high as it can be expected to go, the state could well look into the possibility of raising vehicle registration fees. The present fee of $8 is certainly a nominal one and could be increased with little hardship, if any, to anyone.

As to benefit, it is true that highways within cities are used by local traffic. But the major function of such highways is still to move non-local traffic. And if the state's highway system is to be a good one, it must make adequate provision for this movement through cities. Unless the state assumes more responsibility, the highway system will lag at the one place where it is most in need of improvement—through major population centers.

Of Human Interest

The daily grist produced two new items which ought to be repeated for two reasons. First, they will not change the world one whit and second, they are of unusual interest.

One is that Kilroy is no more. The other is that a British plant pathologist denied that Adam and Eve ate an apple. Probably they ate an apricot.

Kilroy was a household word during World War II. The phrase, "Kilroy was here," remains as much of that war as the Zippo lighter.

It turns out that Kilroy was real, an inspector at the Quincy, Massachusetts, shipyard who left his name on work correctly done. But in terms of the war his phrase became an expression of the implacable American force for victory, something to the military that Churchill's famous V for Victory was to the people. Now the phrase has passed into memory as has the war and the world has moved far away from it. It is a thought that makes one pensive because time will do the same to all of us.

Not so with Adam and Eve. What they ate is still a lively topic, a great source of do-it-yourself theology, even for plant pathologists. This great theory for nit-picking, drawing up sides in respect to apples or apricots is a human folly that may yet destroy us all. All the guesses as to what Adam and Eve actually ate are supplied by rationalists who at best try to prove what they did not eat. Obviously all but one, and perhaps even that one, is in error. But the faithful can be comforted by a great truth. It is that error in explaining a fact does not destroy the fact.

Military Noses Into Politics

WASHINGTON — There is much more than meets the eye in the row between the press and the Pentagon over news censorship for which the President is getting his ears pinned back by some irate members of the Fourth Estate.

On the surface it is a feud between Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense, and his former buddies of the Gridiron Club et al of which he was an alert and eager-beaver member while covering Washington for the Newark (N.J.) News.

When the shoe is on the other foot with newspapermen they are always tough on their own profession, and Art Sylvester, now the harassed but dedicated bureaucrat, has been both efficient and tough in cracking down on military news leaks to his former colleagues.

In this he has the full support of the President, with whom he toured New Hampshire in the snow and sleet of that early 1960 primary when nobody really took John F. Kennedy seriously except himself, his father, and a few people like Art Sylvester. JFK remembers this and is not one to go back on old friends.

But much more important with JFK than friendship and more important to the country than a mere squabble between an ex-newspaperman and his former colleagues is the basic question of whether the U.S. military remain part of the civilian government loyal to their commander-in-chief.

Let it be noted at the outset that, in my opinion, some 90 per cent of the military are loyal, devoted, underpaid public servants ready to give everything for their country. But there is a small, vocal and at times powerful minority which has barged into the job of foreign policy as if they considered themselves the secretary of state and have undercut their commander-in-chief as if they were generals of the Argentine army undercutting President Frondizi.

This has happened just as much under Republican presidents as under the present Democrat, though Republican congressmen who now accuse Kennedy of censorship forget that fact.

I vividly recall Adm. Joseph M. Reeves leaking to the press during the Coolidge Naval Conference in Geneva and together with William Baldwin Shearer (paid $40,000 by the steel companies and the shipbuilders) trying to undercut the disarmament policies of the civilian commander-in-chief, a Republican.

Under both Truman and Eisenhower this barging of the military into foreign policy increased. The most spectacular case was Gen. Douglas MacArthur's undercutting of President Truman's foreign policy regarding Formosa which ended in his dismissal.

Yale Sees Unruh As California Story

WASHINGTON — A Yale-Harvard game of an extraordinary kind is about to take place in New Haven. The institution not prominently represented in the Kennedy administration has chosen Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the California state assembly, as the first of the Chubb Fellows who are among Yale's most distinguished visitors each year.

Unruh is not from Harvard, but he speaks for its currently most eminent alumnus, the President, in California. Recently he directed the state campaign which both re-elected Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown and disposed of Richard M. Nixon, the favorite of many prominent Yale graduates, including Henry R. Luce.

The educational and sporting opportunities thus afforded the Elises are numerous, politically, ideologically and geographically.

The fact that Unruh has literally not yielded an inch to his leader's physical fitness program and wears red-stained-lined overcoats has led to the suspicion in some quarters that they plan to amuse themselves with a last hurrah type, California style. If this be true, they will not go far beyond the first laugh.

Unruh's native wits have brought him a long way from the Arkansas tenant farm which did not yield his father the advantage of learning to read and write. His political training took place on the University of California campus at Los Angeles and was possibly more rugged even than the real thing in the soon-to-be-biggest state. Following his graduation, he took a major part in the struggle to sharpen party lines so that Democrats might get the advantage of their large registration pluralities. In the assembly, he helped shape the operations which gave Brown the legislative majorities to put across his program, a big factor in the recent triumph over Nixon.

Where others hesitated, Unruh plumped early for Kennedy in a state with emotional ties to Adlai Stevenson. Hence his preferred status here. It is believed that he hopes Kennedy will return his favor when Unruh decides to run for governor.

Yet Yale will be wrong in supposing that Unruh is the California story—no one politician, however skillful, could be that. Actually, his manipulative skills are new to state politics, and a limitation on his future is how far the Californians will accept them. They did not accept Nixon's.

Both Unruh and the President are now seeking ways to put the lid on the yeasty California Democratic Clubs which love to fight equally about issues and personalities. They are alien to the Kennedy temperament, and Unruh is going along. Actually, he is not less liberal than the CDC and formerly headed one of its branches; he just doesn't want them in his way now.

The CDC is unlikely to leave quietly. Its former head, Controller Alan Cranston, almost unknown four years ago, led the ticket this year with nearly a million plurality. That's California. Copyright, 1962, By U F Synd., Inc.

Der Spiegel Case Shakes Bonn

WASHINGTON — The rules of the game of representative government in West Germany are so fouled up that probably even Chancellor Adenauer himself would be hard pressed to say whether he is going to be able to quiet the strife among the warring political tribes and restore a stable regime.

It began with the attempt of the Adenauer government to suppress the news magazine Der Spiegel by arbitrary arrest of the editors and sealing of the Spiegel offices. The offense of Der Spiegel (The Mirror) was publication of the contents of an alleged top-secret document showing the grave weaknesses of the West German divisions in the NATO exercise Fallex 62.

For Franz Josef Strauss, Adenauer's minister of defense, this was renewal of attack by an old enemy. Der Spiegel and Strauss, a vigorous and unrelenting foe, have conducted a lengthy feud. While at first denying any part in the action, Strauss later admitted that he had personally telephoned Madrid to insure the arrest of the reporter who wrote the article and who was on vacation there. This seemed to underscore his close relationship with the Franco dictatorship, which had come to light when Strauss initiated secret negotiations for German training bases in Spain.

To give him a free hand in forming a new government after the Spiegel explosion Adenauer accepted the resignation of all his ministers, including the Free Democrats on whose support the coalition depends. The theory was that a new government would be formed with the troublesome Strauss eliminated.

But now in provincial elections in his native Bavaria the Strauss party, the Christian Social Union, has gained rather than lost strength, as had been expected. The upward swing for the CSU was two per cent over 1958. At the same time the Socialists gained five per cent and the smaller parties most heavily.

Does this mean that Adenauer cannot ask Strauss to step aside? The Bavarians have been called the Texans of Germany and they are said to have resented the idea that their man in Bonn would be sacrificed in the interests of harmony.

Contrary to first reports, based on what was apparently a superficial sampling of opinion, many Germans have been deeply disturbed by what is happening. Most of the press, students in many university centers as well as numerous citizens in letters to the newspapers have expressed their disquiet and their concern for freedom of expression. The haunting fear of a return of the old authoritarianism is reflected in much of the protest.

What has been scarcely touched on is the substance of Der Spiegel's allegations—that the West German forces were shown to be woefully unready in almost every department. The government has not denied the charge, merely saying that if the "facts" as printed in Der Spiegel were proved to be true then publication would be treason.

It is here that American policy comes up against the paradox of Adenauer's policy. Policy-makers here have strongly resented the intimidation out of Bonn from time to time that Washington will not stand up to the Soviet threat in Berlin and that the Kennedy administration is too ready to negotiate concessions to Moscow.

This has come while Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has been rapidly pressing the buildup of America's conventional forces so that aggression can be met by means other than all-out nuclear war. Five full-strength American divisions are maintained in Germany. At the same time McNamara has been urging Germany, Britain and France to increase their conventional forces more rapidly. This effort has been largely in vain.

If reports out of Bonn can be credited, Strauss believes that the German divisions must have tactical nuclear weapons and therefore he would not be too concerned over the poor showing of forces in maneuvers without such weapons. France maintains one and a half understrength divisions with World War II equipment in Germany. The French drive to build an independent national nuclear deterrent is so costly that little is left over for the conventional force.

Accentuating the German paradox is the fact that while Adenauer, Strauss and others talk hard, the trade between West Germany and the communist bloc has steadily increased in marked contrast with the restraints put on American traders. The two-way trade between West and East Germany is at an annual volume of $500,000,000. The big contracts which Krupp and other Rhineland industrialists negotiated in Moscow in 1958 have meant a rapid rise in exports to the Soviet Union. Germany is buying more than 2,000,000 tons of Soviet oil a year.

The hard line may be a useful political device inside Germany. But the status of the Western alliance and the strains put on it call for something more.

BOB CONSIDINE

Healthy Respect Abounds For SAC

OMAHA — Historians may decree years hence that the United States embarked on a new and surer course in its world leadership astride a single sentence buried deep in President Kennedy's first report to the nation on the Cuban crisis.

The sentence: "It shall be the policy of this nation to regard any nuclear missile launched from Cuba against any nation in the Western Hemisphere as an attack by the Soviet Union on the United States and requiring a full retaliatory response upon the Soviet Union."

All Soviet withdrawals from Cuba of means of long-range warfare and trained men to operate the weapons date from that sentence.

All abandoned efforts to swap Cuban withdrawals for Turkish bases go back to that sentence. There is within the Kremlin a new mood for at least temporary accommodation with the West directly related to that sentence. Mr. Mikoyan, a man of immensely more stature than Castro in world affairs, remained in Havana a humiliated long time, placating the irresponsible Cuban, because of that sentence.

The sentence bolstered the spirit of America, firmed up the market, put needed starch in the knees of wavering neutrals and Latin American nations sorely intimidated by Castro. For all we know, the effects of the sentence reached down through the levels of car-buying, house-building, and shoes for baby.

But the sentence would have been so much hot air—as in truth was the Monroe Doctrine when first declared—if it had not been bluntly backed, underwritten and underscored by the presence in this country and abroad of the Strategic Air Command.

SAC makes any nuclear attack on the U.S. or any ally unthinkable. As Chairman Khrushchev has said, a general nuclear war would be "insane." As indeed it would, for it would mean the inevitable and swift destruction of all the off-deferred boons he has brought to a people who suffered appallingly in World War II. Recent history is shell-pocked by instances when the Soviet Union might have ruled that it had sufficient cause to throw its considerable nuclear punch at us: the U.S. Navy's move into the Formosan Straits in 1953 to block Russian ally Red China; the landing of Marine and the Army in Lebanon in 1959 to rout a communist take-over, the introduction of U.S. fighting gear and "technicians" into Viet Nam and Thailand, and the numerous confrontations over, in and around Cuba.

But in every instance, the price of hitting first with a nuclear device was judged too high. SAC was (and is) too ready to be tampered with. Its mixed strike force of bombers and missiles comprise somewhere between 30 and 90 per cent of the free world's nuclear firepower. Half of its approximately 1,600 manned bombers are on constant and immediate ground alert. It keeps some of them aloft—loaded—around the clock, and sternly stepped up this airborne alert during the worst of the Cuban crisis. It has hundreds of ICBMs in place, many in hardened silos impervious to such enemy attack as might be carried out against some of the manned bombers and exposed missile pads.

SAC's n'th power is that it could survive a surprise attack and instantly deliver a counter-punch. On top of this, any less than insane aggressor would have to take into consideration the Polaris submarines—whose "silos" are oceans—and NATO's 120 ICBMs and clouds of nuclear-tipped fighters and fighter bombers.

SAC's name was hardly mentioned in any of the real or suggested East-West confrontations lately. But it is noted now that the posthumous DSM awarded to Maj. Rudolph Anderson, the U-2 pilot shot down over Cuba, was presented to the widow by Gen. Tom Power, commander of SAC. Its airborne-refueled B-47s took an active part in the surveillance of vessels approaching the Navy's blockade. It spreads its unseen wings over every presidential message regarding the security of the free peoples. It sits in a seemingly empty chair at every international conference table, and will until such time as the two great powers find honorable accord, or hell freezes over.

Your Four Cents Worth Seeking Santa

Lincoln, Neb. How brain-washed can the American people be! The vote of November 6 showed that in spite of all the bungling the administration has done with the taxpayers' money and also the bungling with the security of our country, a majority still supports the "New Frontier." They are brain-washed with the idea that they can still get something for nothing. Paul Harvey says: "The people are still looking for a Santa Claus without taxes."

Unless the voters stop and think and really know what they are voting for, they will find a Santa Claus, but not the one for which they are looking. Their Santa Claus will give them, with pleasure, the loss of their free rights.

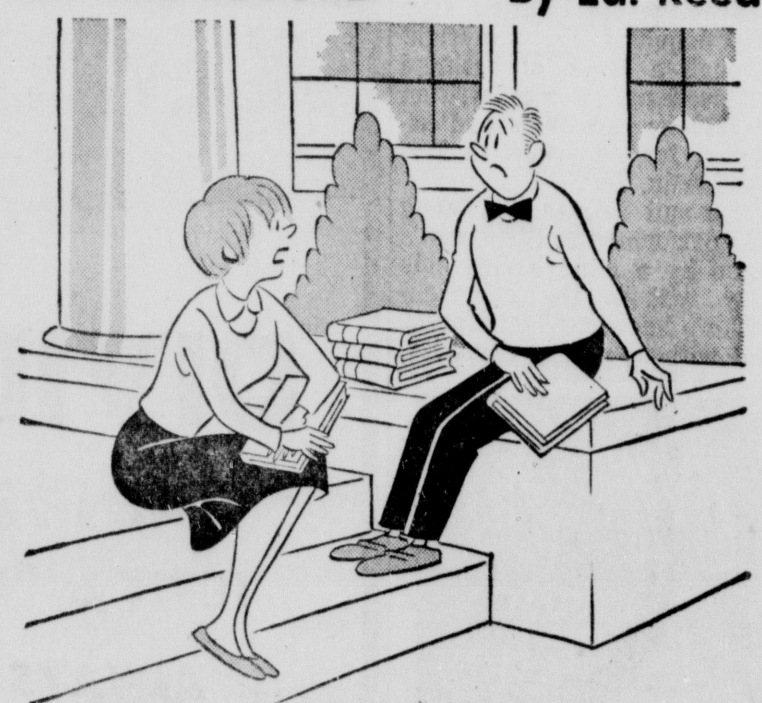

What has happened to the real American spirit? This means both Democrats and Republicans.

Nebraskans can feel proud that they still believe in the Constitution of the United States!

The traffic laws of Rio de Janeiro are explicit on one point: If the police don't catch you within 24 hours, they can't do anything to you. "Consequently," said a Brazilian friend, "if two cars collide, you will see both drivers get out and run. "If the police get them within 24 hours, they can hold them in jail. And sometimes it is a long time before you are brought to trial."

Traffic operates in the most dashing, casual manner. A red light is a signal to go for most drivers. "As soon as Brazil passes a law," said my friend, "everybody begins to think of ways to break it." The running of red lights causes no concern to traffic cops. They watch without expression things that would send American police into a concert of whistle blowing.

"Just the other day," said the Brazilian, "a friend of mine stopped for a red light. Two policemen were on the corner and they immediately halted him."

"He had forgotten his driver's license—they could have taken him to jail. But he was a medical student, so they let him go."

"He asked them: 'Why did you stop me?'"

"They said: 'Ah, when you stopped at the red light, we knew you must be a criminal or had forgotten your license or something. Only people with a bad conscience stop for the red light.'"

If there is any such thing as pedestrian right-of-way, it doesn't show. Step in the street and cars head for you as if you were target for tonight.

No horn blowing. No slowing down. They step on the gas and charge. Pedestrians dance through this deadly ballet like so many bullfighters. Ducking, dodging, leaping to last-minute safety.

The most lethal drivers are the pilots of the small, rickety buses called lotacacs. The lotacao is cheap and is usually jammed to the roof. Full or "completo" as they say here.

The lotacao driver sails down the boulevard with his foot pressed to the floor. If he crashes, he is the first out the door and over the horizon.

Some years ago, the police rounded up a lot of lotacao drivers and gave them various tests.

They found about 90 per cent were low I.Q. down to out-and-out morons.

They didn't do anything about it, however. Just recorded it as an interesting fact.

Rio is one of the few world capitals where they haven't outlawed horn blowing.

The Carioca drives mainly with his horn, very little with his brakes.

When the light turns red and someone stops, he leans on the horn.

"It is actually dangerous to stop at a red light," said the Brazilian. Not only will it make the police suspicious, but the person behind you will probably drive right into you."

This makes driving a daily sport. It is even better in the evenings when the "playboys" come out. Playboy has entered the language here.

The playboy has papa's car. Or better, a sportscar papa bought for him.

He rockets this bomb at the highest speed he can make.

Add this to the tearing lotacao, the casual taxi driver and the leaping pedestrian. It makes life worth living. If you can stay alive.

Merger Opposed By CAB Examiner

Washington (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner recommended Tuesday that the CAB turn down a request by American and Eastern airlines to merge. He said it would tend to create a monopoly.

Examiner Ralph L. Wiser, who heard arguments on the proposal for several months, said neither airline is a failing business or is unduly weak. Therefore, he said, the merger cannot be justified on the basis of business necessity.

American is the nation's 2nd largest air carrier and Eastern the 4th largest.

To President

The 5-man board will consider Wiser's recommendations and present its findings to President Kennedy, who will make the final decision because international routes are involved.

In New York, American Airlines said it expects the CAB to reverse Wiser.

"The American - Eastern merger proposal represents necessary progress and is in the public interest. We are therefore confident that it will be approved," the airline said in a statement.

Eastern, in similar vein, said the "critical" financial condition of through-route air carriers generally calls for ending duplication of routes and facilities "which are crippling air transportation."

Wiser's report said that if Eastern routes should require strengthening this could be done by other means.

He pointed out that the merged airlines would extend over the American continent into all parts of the United States except the Northwest, and into Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico and Bermuda.

Wiser said it would account for about one-third of the U.S. air transportation business.

Serious Threat

"The merged corporation would constitute a serious competitive threat to the rest of the industry," Wiser said.

"Its probable effect would be substantially to lessen competition and to tend to create a monopoly."

The Justice Department had opposed the merger as "repugnant" to established antitrust principles. There was opposition also from some other airlines and from labor unions. Stock market witnesses who favored it said a merger would greatly improve the attitude of professional investors toward the airline industry as a whole.

FREIGHT INJURES MILFORD REST HOME'S WALK-AWAY

Seward — A patient who wandered off from a Milford rest home was in good condition at Seward County Hospital Tuesday night after a northbound freight train struck him about 3 miles west of Milford.

Seward County Sheriff Ray Welch identified the injured man as 75-year-old Edgar Lovelace. A hospital official said Lovelace suffered cuts on his right hand and a possible broken right arm.

The train was Burlington No. 79, a 106-car freight traveling from Lincoln to Billings, Mont. The engineer was Elmer L. Harris of 945 So. 31st.

Crewmen told Deputy Sheriff Ed Bort that Lovelace came out of some weeds beside the tracks and threw his right hand up in front of the engine. They said the right front of the engine struck his hand, throwing him off to the side, but he was standing again when they stopped the train and came back to check him.

Bort said the train was traveling approximately 60 miles an hour when the accident happened.

Texas leads the nation in the number of counties. The Lone Star state has 254. Next comes Georgia with 159. Kentucky is third with 120 counties.

State Road Department Is Honored

The State Department of Roads Tuesday night was honored by the National Highway Users Conference for meritorious reports to the public.

State Engineer John Hossack and Cecil Elo, information chief for the highway department, received the award at a dinner at the Hotel Lincoln.

The department's report, "It's Your Business," brought the Highway Users' award of distinction.

Presentation was made by Prof. I. E. Solberg of Bismarck (N.D.) Junior College, a member of the Board of Governors of the National Highway Users Conference.

Also speaking was William Nelson, field representative for the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

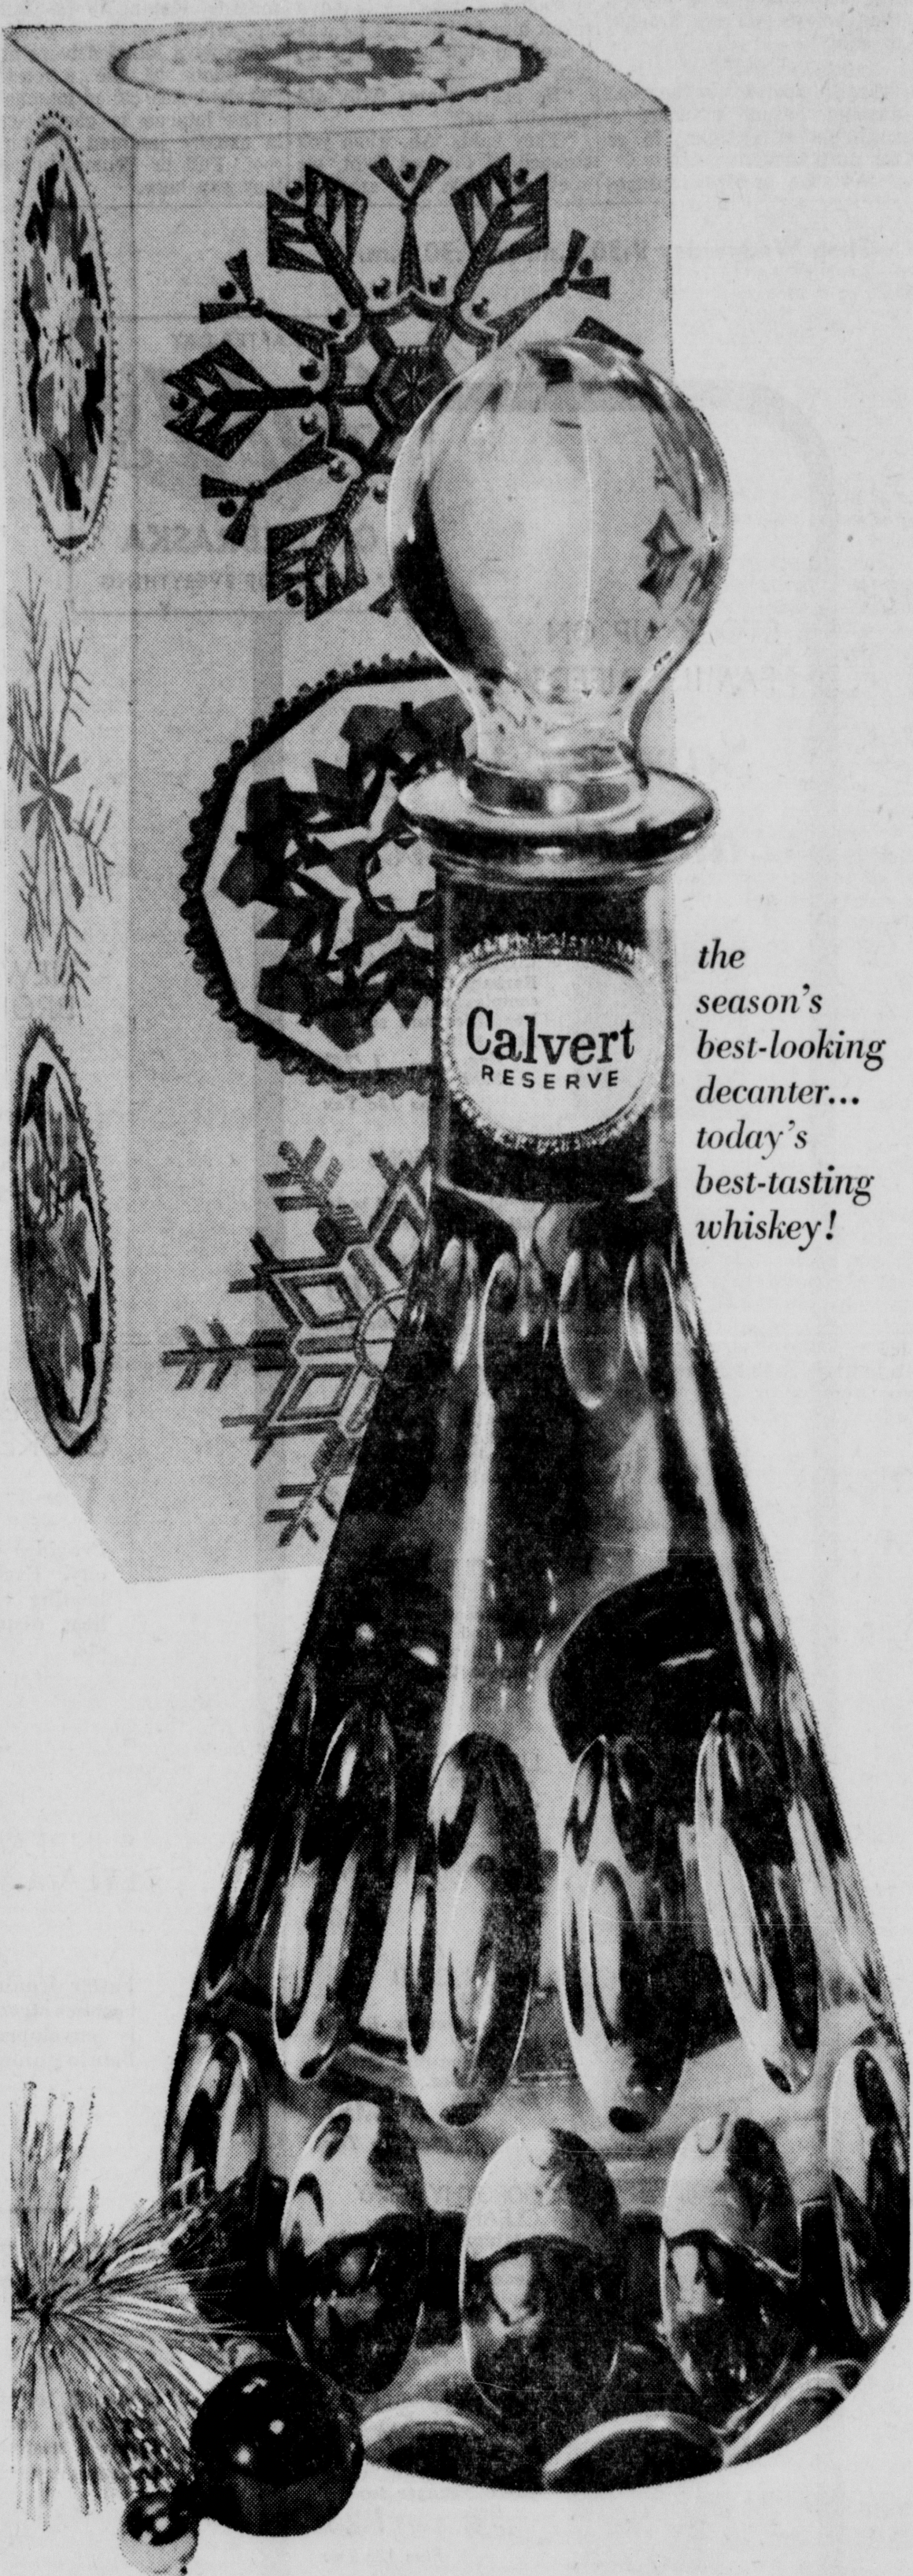

He emphasized the need for more aggressive traffic law enforcement, suggesting the establishment of an interstate highway compact.

Members of the Highway Advisory Commission attended the dinner, along with highway department officials and representatives of various highway user organizations.

India Again Ridicules Red Truce Terms

New Delhi (UPI) — India issued another statement Tuesday ridiculing the Chinese Communist truce terms in an apparent prelude to rejection. There were reports India might use British-built bombers to try to drive the Chinese from Indian territory.

The statement came as India signed a formal aid agreement with Britain Tuesday for arms to defend against Chinese aggression. Like an earlier American arms agreement, there were safeguards against the arms being used against Pakistan.

Details of the arms agreement were not made public but in the past India has been reported seeking British Canberra twin-jet bombers to supplement the infantry arms and ammunition flown in on an emergency basis by the United States and Britain.

Entrenched

The possibility of air attacks against the Chinese entrenched in the 2,500-mile Himalayan border was raised at a public meeting by Home Minister Lal Bahadur. He said India might have to resort to air strikes — the first mention by any high Indian official of possible use of bomb-

Spore Gets Four Years In Robbery

Robert L. Spore, who pleaded guilty to robbing a Lincoln liquor store Sept. 11, was sentenced to 4 years in the Nebraska State Penitentiary Tuesday by Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele.

The 20-year-old former University of Nebraska student from Lexington had also admitted two other robberies in July.

Spore was arrested two blocks away about 9 minutes after holding up the N Street Liquor Store at 18th and N.

A loaded .22 caliber pistol and a sack containing the stolen $153.15 was found in his automobile, according to police.

Conrad Nelson, the liquor store clerk, identified Spore as the man who committed the Sept. 11 robbery and also one in July when $337 was taken.

Police reported that Spore also admitted robbing Les' Texaco Station at 16th and Q of $74 in July.

Power Tiff Settlement 'Assured'

An out-of-court settlement of pending public power rate litigation has been "practically assured," according to the general manager of Loup River Public Power District.

John Preston of Columbus said negotiating groups from the agencies involved have tentatively agreed on changes in the old contracts under dispute.

New pacts have been drawn and sent to boards of directors for final approval, Preston said.

Agencies involved are rural and municipal electric organizations, Consumers Public Power District and the Nebraska Public Power System.

NPPS is composed of Loup and the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

At issue are wholesale electric rate increases announced by NPPS in 1959. The increased rates have not been paid by Consumers or the rurals, and are the subject of court action.

Preston hailed the forthcoming settlement as "a giant step forward" in smoothing some of the power difficulties in Nebraska.

Backers Of Sullivan Spent $1,900 For Him

"The Committee for Qualified Judges Supporting George T. Sullivan for Judge of the Juvenile Court in Douglas County" Tuesday reported it spent $1,935 in Sullivan's behalf during the recent campaign.

The report was filed with the secretary of state. Sullivan lost.

ers against Chinese border positions.

Although an Indian spokesman said there were no incidents anywhere along the front and the cease-fire was still in effect, Peking did not retreat from its hard line. A series of broadcasts charged that India was intensifying its war preparations.

Although India appeared to be building up a case for rejecting the Chinese truce proposals, it still did not formally reject them. Officially the proposals were still "under consideration" following the receipt of certain "clarifications" asked from Peking.

Nervous Eye

India, with a nervous eye on Pakistan, Tuesday denied a Pakistan press agency report that Indian troops were massing on part of the border of East Pakistan. A spokesman said the report broadcast by radio Pakistan Saturday was a "complete fabrication."

It was the second time a spokesman at nightly briefings usually reserved for Sino-Indian developments denied Pakistan reports. Earlier he branded as false a reported statement by Pakistan's foreign minister that India and the United States entered a secret defense pact.

Pakistan was still concerned over the arming of India by the West and both the American and British arms missions here were flying to Rawalpindi to assure President Mohammed Ayub Khan the arms would be used only against the Chinese Communists. Britain's Duncan Sandys left Tuesday night and Averell Harriman was leaving Wednesday.

Confidence

U.S. Gen. Paul D. Adams returned from the northeast area and said "I have confidence in Indian soldiers and officers to do a good job." Referring to the staggering Indian setbacks there he said, "We know they fought the good fight." Informed sources said he had found Indian military men had a great will to fight—that they wanted nothing better than to take on the Chinese.

Other Indian developments:

—The United States agreed to supply India with $46.6 million worth of badly needed cotton to keep its textile industry operating. Terms call for the United States to supply 375,000 bales (400 gross pounds) of long staple cotton for payment in rupees, with 85% of the rupees lent back to India for development purposes.

—Tezpur dispatches said the town was returning to some semblance of normalcy under the quiet of the Chinese cease-fire. Most of the 50,000 residents fled when the communists approached, and a few men returned to put their affairs in order.

Railroads Claim Ample Cars Due To Handle Crop

The Nebraska Railway Commission reported Tuesday it has been informed by railroads serving the state that "ample cars are presently moving into Nebraska to take care of the bumper crop."

State officials had been concerned that not enough boxcars would be available to get the crop to market.

Both the commission and Gov. Frank Morrison had petitioned the railroads and the Interstate Commerce Commission to do something about the situation.

January Draft For 31 Nebraska Men

Nebraska's draft call for January will total 31 men, the state Selective Service Office reported Tuesday.

This compares with 49 called for December.

Col. Francis Drath, deputy draft director, said the January quota for Nebraska is based on a national call of 4,000, while December's was on 6,000.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms, ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily. Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Pope Okays Delay Of Second Session

Vatican City (UPI) — Pope John XXIII has agreed to postpone the second session of the Ecumenical Council from May 12 until September of next year, it was announced Tuesday.

The present session will end Dec. 8 and the second session was to have run from May 12 through June 29. Closing date of the postponed session was not set.

The postponement had been requested by a number of bishops and the pontiff acceded to their wishes of what he called his "Parliament of God."

Speeded Work

The Pope twice has speeded council work by amending regulations which he had issued. He also has stepped in to cut off debate on a controversial theological item although "liberal" fathers who opposed it barely had failed to win the required two-thirds majority.

Tuesday's session also heard

Ecumenical Council liberals criticize as "harsh and peremptory" the approach by some Vatican "conservatives" to union with the Eastern (Orthodox) Church.

The liberals said Roman Catholics must take their share of the blame for past splits with the orthodox and recognize the fact the Eastern church was founded directly by the Apostles.

Union Terms

Their opposition was aimed at a draft on the terms for union with the Eastern churches, submitted by a preparatory commission under Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the papal secretary of state.

Cardinal Cicognani was the second top member of the Roman Curia — the central government of the church — to come under liberal criticism in the meeting in St. Peter's Basilica.

Last week, Alfiredo Cardinal Ottaviani, secretary of the holy office, came under fire.

$1.75 Million OK Goes To Victor Comptometer

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday approved issue of $1.75 million in industrial revenue bonds to the Victor Comptometer Corp. so it can build a new plant on the Lincoln Industrial Tract.

The action is made possible by a provision in the Industrial Development Amendment (IDA).

The bonds will be financed entirely by revenue and rental. The Victor Corp. will pay for its location. No county funds will be involved.

President Harold Salisbury of Victor Business Forms, local division of Victor Comptometer of Illinois, expressed gratitude to board members and the entire state for co-operation in "making possible expansion in the city of Lincoln."

"We want to stay in Lincoln," he said.

He told the board that Victor has entered into an agreement for 10½ acres of land in the Industrial Park on So. 14th.

Salisbury said the corporation plans to start construction on the 134,000 square foot building next spring as early as weather permits and move in by fall, 1963.

'Park Asset'

"We feel that the plant will be an asset to the Chamber's industrial park," he added.

It will be a one-story brick and concrete block structure with two stories in the front for offices, Salisbury said.

The bonds will be sold to First Nebraska Securities Corp. of Lincoln and Gore, Forgan and Co. of Chicago. First National Bank and Trust Co. of Lincoln will serve as trustee; the county will be "obligated in no way for the payment of these bonds," officials said.

County Officers To Host 199 For Government Day

Lancaster County officers will play host Wednesday to 199 Lancaster County high school students at the annual Cornhusker Boys' and Girls' County Government Day.

The students, chosen by the schools to hold various offices, will report at 8:30 a.m. to meet officials and take their oaths of office, followed by a tour of the Courthouse. District Judge Herbert A. Ronin will speak at the noon luncheon.

Police Seek 8th American In 'Beatnik' Slaying

Barcelona, Spain (UPI) — Police were reported seeking an 8th American Tuesday in the "beatnik" murder of a Barcelona businessman who was stabbed with a knife and beaten to death with a meat-tenderizing hammer.

Seven Americans, including an alleged marijuana-smoking Army deserter and a Negro woman jazz singer, already were held in jail for a preliminary hearing Wednesday in the death of Francisco Rubirosa Closas last Nov. 17.

Murder in Spain can carry a sentence of death by garrotting.

U.S. Consular Official James Parker said two of the Americans apparently were arrested last Friday. He identified them as Paul Buchbinder of

New York City and Donald Delaney of San Francisco.

Spanish police declined comment on their investigation, but informed sources said they were on the trail of one more American. They did not say who he was.

Those arrested earlier were James B. Wagner, 22 of Union Beach, N.J., missing from his U.S. Army unit at Ludwigsburg, Germany, since Oct. 19 and officially classified as a deserter since Nov. 18; Negro jazz singer Gloria Stewart, about 33; James Stephen Johnston, 29, a teacher; John Hand and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nancy Hand, all of New York.

A Spanish woman identified as Maria del Pilar Lafaro also was being questioned. Police said she was a friend of the victim.

Wagner was arrested at Palma in the Balearic Islands last Sunday, the day before he was to sail as a cabin boy aboard a pleasure yacht. Police accused him of plotting the robbery and murder with the others and then carrying it out. They said he claimed he was using marijuana at the time the crime was committed.

Denied

Despite reports that Wagner had denied knowing Rubirosa Closas, Parker said that both Wagner and Hand had signed statements detailing their relationship with the victim.

Parker had high praise for the way Spanish authorities were conducting the case.

"They were bending over backwards to do this thing right," he said. "I was present during some of the interrogations at their request."

A police spokesman said the suspects consorted "with a group of what you would call beatniks" and that some of them were existentialists and frequented a waterfront dive called the Jamboree where Miss Stewart was a singer.

How to travel in luxury without really flying

The exciting new '63 Chevrolet has captured the silence and effortless ease of jet flight and translated it to highway travel. Every new Chevrolet, whether it's a luxury Impala, a low-priced Bel Air or a Biscayne, now has self-adjusting brakes, a Delcotron generator to extend battery life, and the ingenious new flush-and-dry system that takes air and rain water from the cowl and rinses corrosive elements out of the rocker panels where rust usually begins. A test drive of a few miles over a variety of roads will amaze you. The suspension, with coil springs at all four wheels, treats back roads, car tracks, gravel as though they were billiard-table smooth. The engine whisks you away from traffic lights or steps safely out to pass slower cars without once intruding on your privacy. This '63 Chevrolet is a quality automobile, built to travel with the very best. When you're driving a Chevrolet, you don't take a back seat to anyone!

Study Economic Sanctions To Force Congo Unification

Washington (UPI) — President Kennedy and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak warned Tuesday that "severe economic measures" will be necessary to compel unification of the Congo if it is not accomplished voluntarily in a "very short period of time."

In a joint statement issued after a White House meeting, Kennedy and Spaak said thus far the United States and Belgium have worked for the unification plan of acting U.N. Secretary-General Thant.

Thant's plan centered on voluntary discussion and action by Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula and President Moise Tshombe of secessionist Katanga Province.

Hasn't Produced

"This approach has not, however, produced the necessary results," the joint statement said. "If there is not substantial progress within a very short period of time, the United States government and the government of Belgium fully realize it will be necessary to execute further phases under the United Nations plan, which include severe economic measures."

Kennedy and Spaak reaffirmed their "full support" for the Thant plan for unification under a federal constitution that would provide for a sharing of the revenues of the Katanga mining enterprises.

At the time the Thant plan was disclosed Aug. 20, consideration was given to economic sanctions to force Tshombe to accept reconciliation. These would include a boycott of Katanga products. Consideration also was given to severing Katanga transportation links with the outside world.

Agreed

But it was agreed that Tshombe and Adoula would be encouraged to "voluntarily" come to agreement on unification.

Shortly before the joint statement was released, Spaak told reporters "we are in complete agreement between the Americans and the Belgians but we must have agreement of the United Nations."

Spaak was continuing discussions with Thant in New York.

It had been reported that Spaak came to Washington with a possible compromise plan for a settlement of the Katanga revenue question, which hopefully would lead to a settlement of political issues. He declined comment on questions by newsmen about any such plan.

Long Meetings

Spaak held lengthy meetings earlier in the day with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other officials at the State Department.

Spaak Tuesday followed much the same line taken by Congolese Foreign Minister Juste Bomboko took Monday in urging "vigorous measures" to compel unification.

Bomboko, who met with Rusk, said continued delay would "seriously weaken" Adoula's regime and might bring its downfall.

Big toy is carried by Greek island native as she leaves a Chicago hospital Tuesday—following surgery to correct a heart defect once considered hopeless. Stefania Fragogiani, 13, underwent surgery Nov. 13—an artery was connected from her arm to a lung artery, adding to oxygen supply which she otherwise didn't get. After recuperating at Chicago home of her benefactor, Stefania will return to Zakynthos.

Italy To Nationalize Electric Industry

Rome (AP)—Italy's parliament Tuesday night gave final overwhelming approval to the controversial plan to nationalize Italy's electric power industry.

The chamber of deputies completed parliamentary action on the bill, voting 371-57. The Senate had passed it earlier. Presidential approval, signing the bill into law, is a formality.

Passage of the nationalization bill represents a major victory for Premier Amintore Fanfani's socialist-supported government.

Over the opposition of rightists, Fanfani agreed last February to accept socialist voting support in parliament in return for pushing socialist-backed legislation. Electric nationalization was a key bill in the socialist program.

Opposition votes came only from the rightwing parties. Communists joined socialists and the parties in Fanfani's to vote for the bill.

The nationalization act sets up an ente (state agency) to control and operate Italy's total electric generating capacity of 17 million kilowatts.

The ente's powers will extend over all means of production, transmission and distribution.

Further nuclear power plants, like the huge one forming on the Garigliano River south of Rome, will be included.

The government will buy out millions of dollars worth of stock from the private power companies, such as Italian Edison of Milan and Romana Elettricità of Rome. Stockholders will be required to exchange their shares for bonds in the agency.

The agency will come under the ministry of industry, with the prime ministry having final say on who serves on the agency's top-level board.

Nationalization has been a feature of Italian industrial life since the Mussolini era.

The government exerts control in such basic industries as oil, railroads, air transport, steel production, the merchant marine and communications.

The Town--And It's Hustle And Bustle

One always expects considerable hustling and bustling preceding the holiday season, and we may say in all truthfulness, that Lincoln does not fall short of the expectations. All of the hustle and bustle around town is not involved with Christmas shopping, or the Christmas season.

Take today, for example. This is the day that Mr. and Mrs. James Evinger and their family are moving from their home at 2621 Winthrop Rd., to temporary quarters at 2727 Van Dorn. We use the term "temporary," because Mr. and Mrs. Evinger and their children have purchased a new home at 2816 Sheridan -- and as soon as the painters, the electricians and a variety of workmen move out -- the Evingers will move in.

You may have guessed that 2621 Winthrop Rd., soon is to have other occupants -- They are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Roper who, so we hear, will be moving in sometime in mid-December.

And had you heard that Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Luikart, Jr., and their two children, Gordon A. III (Gus -- for short) and Kathryn will be leaving Lincoln very soon?

Mr. and Mrs. Luikart and their family will be leaving late in December or early January for West Palm Beach, Fla., where Mr. Luikart has accepted a position in his field of chemistry.

There are no dull moments for some of Lincoln's

December brides, either.

There is Miss Karen Costin, for instance, whose marriage to Joseph McWilliams is planned for Dec. 29, at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Miss Costin's courtesy book is filling rapidly, and in addition to the parties already given in compliment to the bride-elect, there are others to come.

One of the recent courtesies was the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lunde were host and hostess at their home on Thanksgiving day. The guest list included the members of the families.

On Thursday, Dec. 6 Miss Costin will again be honored when Mrs. Joseph Werner is a hostess. The guests have been invited for a dessert supper, and the bride-elect will be presented with a pottery and linen shower.

Miss Costin and Mr. McWilliams will share honors on Saturday evening, Dec. 8, when Mr. and Mrs. Michael Geiss entertain at a buffet supper at their home. The guest list will include the agency men, and their wives of Mr. Geiss' insurance company with which Mr. McWilliams is associated.

Someone told us that the members of the Patriarchs will be out and about next Wednesday evening. The group will dine and have its Christmas party at the University Club.

Just heard that Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carter and their family have returned from Topeka, Kan., where they spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Carter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knorr, formerly of Lincoln.

Reveal Holiday Wedding Plans

Planning a wedding during the holiday season is Miss Barbara Ilg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ilg, who will become the bride of George Gammel of Tekamah, on Friday, Dec. 21.

The bride-elect has announced that the service will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening at the Fairhill United Presbyterian Church.

Miss Joyce Ilg will attend her sister as maid of honor, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Margaret Borner. Mrs. Gary Smith will be the bridesmatron.

In courtesy to Miss Ilg, a Chi Omega at the University of Nebraska and a graduate of the university's School of Nursing in Omaha, Mrs. Gary Smith entertained a group of friends recently at her home. During the party, a pottery shower was presented to the honoree.

Also honoring the bride-elect recently, Mrs. Norman Peterson of Tekamah was hostess at her home to the feminine members of Mr.

Gammel's family. Included among the guests at the miscellaneous shower were Miss Ilg's mother, and Mr. Gammel's mother, Mrs. Roy Gammel of Tekamah.

Honoring a December bride-to-be last Saturday was Mrs. Richard Jacobs who was hostess to a group of friends at a 10 o'clock coffee at her home in courtesy to Miss Ann Burke of Denver.

Miss Burke and her fiance, Jerry T. Fenton of Denver, who were the Thanksgiving holiday guests of Mr. Fenton's mother, Mrs. Daniel Fenton, have chosen Saturday, Dec. 22, as the date of their marriage. The ceremony will be solemnized at high noon at St. John's Catholic Church in Denver.

Miss Burke's matron of honor and only attendant will be Mrs. Jacobs, and Joseph Himes of San Francisco, will serve Mr. Fenton as best man.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burke of Jackson, Miss., the bride-elect is a graduate of Millsaps College, Jackson, and a member of Kappa Delta sorority. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mr. Fenton is a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

Why Grow Old? Questions, Answers

Josephine Lowman

Q. I have a letter from a young woman who seems terribly distressed and says I am her only hope. Then she asks me to please answer her in my column but not to print her letter. I will not print her letter but I do not see how I can answer her without stating the problem.

A few years ago when she was 14 she shaved off a few tiny practically unnoticeable hairs from her tummy and between her breasts. She did this two or three times. Now, a couple of years later, she has a few dark course hairs in these areas. She wants me to tell her of some safe, permanent way to remove these hairs herself. She lives in constant fear that she might be in an automobile accident, taken to a hospital and have these hairs discovered. She tells me that she cannot go to a doctor and have them removed and that she cannot talk to her mother about it.

A. I don't know why girls cannot talk to their mothers about such things. We live in the east and my daughter and I have always been close, but when she was in her early teens she wrote to California to find out how to reduce her hips. That one really made me mad!

I tell only about 300,000 women a year how to reduce their hips. It was the epitome of a prophet not being appreciated in his own land. Note to mothers: if you wait long enough your daughter will appreciate you and even love you. Of course she really loved you all the time.

Now back to our young woman and her problem. She has only about fourteen of these dark course hairs and she can have them removed permanently by electrolysis. There is no way she can remove them permanently herself.

From her letter I feel that her greater distress comes from the idea that she brought this on herself rather than unhappiness over having the hairs. Let me clear her mind of this. Shaving off a little fuzz had nothing to do with the hairs she now has.

Also her sense of values is wrong. Perhaps she has not lived long enough to get them straightened out. Some folks never do.

I hope you read this wherever you are. I know that such small defects can seem all out of proportion in importance when one is very young, so I am not writing unsympathetically. Do tell to your mother about this. You may be surprised most happily. The hairs can be removed very simply and permanently with electrolysis.

And when thinking of an automobile accident, just pray that you are not killed or crippled for life, and don't worry about a few hairs!

Dear Abby Follow Convictions

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm mad! I hope you'll publish this. It might wake up some of these pushy parents. Why don't they let their children enjoy their childhood instead of rushing them into a adult life? My daughter is barely 12. She is in the sixth grade in public school. Every Friday is "dress up" day. I let her wear her good silk dress, little heels, no makeup. Bless my soul if some of her little friends didn't show up in spike heels! One girl admitted they were her mother's. They wore scoop necklines, make-up, mascara, nylons and the works! Now my daughter thinks we are "babying" her because she can't dress like the other girls. How does a mother fight this trend?

BAFFLED
DEAR BAFFLED: One of the most difficult jobs of a responsible parent is to follow his own convictions and ignore the persistent pleadings of a child who wants to "be like the other kids." This letter, from a reader, says it better than I.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell mothers whose daughters beg to "be like the other girls" to take care. My mother was "old-fashioned." No make-up until I was 16 and then very sparingly. No heels or nylons until my last year in high school. I wasn't allowed to "go steady" in high school and I had to be in by midnight when I had a date. I wept and felt "babied," but now I am grateful for my mother's good sense. The girls I envied and who were allowed to look 20 when they were 15 are now bored, bitter and burned out. Many are already divorced at 22! I graduated from college in June, and am engaged to be married at Christmas. If a mother wants to do her daughter a favor, she will slow her up.

NOT SORRY
DEAR ABBY: Our son insists on sending us Mother's Day and Father's Day cards signed by both himself and his "girl friend." This is very irritating to both his mother and me as we do not care for his "girl" and he knows it. They are not officially engaged, thank heavens, and we consider their combined signatures on his cards improper and a breach of etiquette. Are we right in resenting our son's actions?

Respectfully,
MY WIFE AND I
DEAR MY: Call a spade a spade and admit that it's the GIRL who irritates you, not the breach of etiquette. You could throw the etiquette book at your son, but I wouldn't advise it, because if they are serious his next card could be signed "Mr. and Mrs." -- officially.

Winter Bride-Elect Honored

A January bride-to-be was the guest of honor on Monday evening when Miss Sharon Sample and Miss Ardis Fredstrom were hostesses at a pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Judy McNeill.

Former high school classmates of the bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyal C. McNeill, were invited to the home of Miss Sample and during the informal evening, a kitchen shower was presented to the honoree.

The wedding of Miss McNeill and Richard Charles Svoboda, who is serving with the Navy, will take place in January. From the left are the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Loyal McNeill; Mr. Svoboda's mother, Mrs. Charles Svoboda; Miss Fredstrom; the honoree, Miss Sample; and Miss Marjorie Schultz.

MISS JUDITH ANN DOUD

Of special interest to campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Doud of Geneva, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judith Ann, to John Louis Picard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Picard of Kingman, Ariz.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Dec. 29, and the ceremony will be solemnized at St. Joseph's Church in Geneva.

Miss Doud is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. Her fiancé attended Nebraska State College at Wayne, and now is a member of the Papillion public schools faculty.

Anniversary Celebrated

In celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary which officially was on Tuesday, Nov. 27, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bowers were honored at an open house last Sunday when their children, W. D. Bowers, Jr., Miss Shirley Bowers and Larry Bowers, were hosts and hostesses.

One hundred guests, including relatives and friends, were invited.

Party For Old School Friends

A group of old high school friends were together last Saturday evening. The party hostess was Miss Cheryl Rodero from Sioux Falls College who was home for the Thanksgiving weekend. The guest list included Ginger Peters, Carl Slaikeu, both attending school at Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kan.; Susan Hossack, Sharon Beatty, Carl Hagen, Dean Smith and Jack Piper, all students at the University of Nebraska.

Miss Peggy Fry, who is a coed at Nebraska Wesleyan, and Leroy Hunter, who is attending Hastings College.

Also included on the invitation list were guests from the various Lincoln high schools. This group was composed of Bonnie Smith, Diane Weimer, Barry Hagen, Jim Allard, Dan Slaikeu, Stan Jost, Lee Hunt, Gary Upton, Janice Darrough and Dick Tallakson.

Christmas Is Coming

If you would like a most unusual door arrangement to greet your visitors during the holiday season, now is the time to get busy.

Although the cost of the materials is negligible, it does take time and imagination to create the sparkling tree pictured above, and fashioned by Mrs. B. C. McLean, instructor for home and family life classes of the Lincoln Public Schools.

The basic requirement for the bright little tree is, of all things, the lowly tin can.

To Entertain Alumnae Club

Meeting Wednesday evening will be the alumnae of Kappa Delta Sorority who will be the guests of Mrs. Henry Cech, 3835 So. 37th.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock and will feature a talk by Mrs. Pat Boyles on, "The Hospital Laboratory And You."

Extension Club Meets

Mrs. Mary Bentzinger was hostess last week to the members of the Plainview Extension Club. Guests of the club were Mrs. Walter Bentzinger and her two children.

During the afternoon, a program, "Stay Young and Think Young," was given by Mrs. Robert Hansen and Mrs. Lee Hunt.

The members also made plans for the club's annual Christmas party and dinner to be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Meyer on Rt. 8.

With the aid of wire cutters, metalcraft or silvercraft scissors, a tin can can be transformed into a variety of designs and floral ornaments, which could brighten up the traditional Christmas tree as well as a door or wall arrangement.

Clusters of small bells, artificial flowers or tiny tree ornaments are wired through a hole punched in the center of each tin "flower" and fastened (in this case) to a painted plywood base in the shape of a tree. The base also could be made of heavy cardboard painted or covered with metallic wrapping paper.

Wire the entire tree to a coat hanger or improvised wire hook so it can be suspended firmly on the door and tuck in evergreen branches as background.

Incidentally, the long curlicues of tin are made by cutting around and around the tin can in one continuous strip.

Nurses Group Has Workshop

The Licensed Practical Nurses of Nebraska met Monday at the Paxton Hotel in Omaha, for an all-day workshop conducted by Mrs. Ruth Snyder of Hastings, state president.

Approximately 40 members attended the 9 o'clock to 4 o'clock meeting, during which reports were given on the organization's recent national convention.

Members of the state organization's division 3 of Lincoln will hold their annual Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 18, at King's, 40th and South.

Guests, Travelers In Suburbia News

MEADOW LANE

We don't know if we'll ever be able to tell you about the Christmas festivities in Meadow Lane, for we may still be telling you about their Thanksgiving! That's right, there is more Thanksgiving news today.

Lincoln residents, Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Settell, were hosted Thursday at the Meadow Lane home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Settell. Helping entertain grandmother and grandfather on "Turkey Day," were the youngest generation of Settells, Robert, Brad, Carol, and Kathryn.

And it was the stork instead of the turkey that came to the Bert Turnwall home last week! The newest Turnwall is a baby girl born last Monday evening at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

The young miss, whose name is Terri Jean, has two sisters, Judy and Peggy, and her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Denton.

A birthday also was celebrated in the neighborhood just previous to the holiday. Miss Diana Lynn Thomsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomsen, celebrated her ninth birthday last Wednesday evening at a birthday supper party at her home. Helping her celebrate were her sisters and brother, Jean, LuAnn, and Kurt, and 14 guests.

COTNER TERRACE

The holiday activities in Cotner Terrace seem to be temporarily replaced by many colds and flu cases, so this week promises to be fairly quiet in the neighborhood. There still is Thanksgiving news that you'll be interested in, however.

Two Cotner Terrace families returned to Lincoln this weekend after Thanksgiving visits in Missouri.

Returning on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Swope and their daughter, Linda, who visited Mrs. Swope's parents during the holiday weekend. Her parents, Mrs. and Mrs. August Luehrman, are residents of Lexington, Mo., and the Swope family spent five days with their Missouri relatives.

The other Missouri visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Daharsh and their little ones, Robin and Jonnie. The Daharsh family also headed toward the "Show Me" state last Wednesday, and their destination was Laredo. In Laredo, they were the guests of Mrs. Daharsh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Veeder.

On Thanksgiving, other members of the Veeder family gathered in Laredo for the day's celebration.

Later that evening, the Daharsh family drove to Gault, Mo. to visit Mrs. Daharsh's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Veeder and their children, Pamela, Lori, and Tommy. On Friday, they were the guests of another brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Veeder and Monty and Sherry, in Milan, Mo.

The travelers returned home on Saturday.

Another large family group celebrated the holiday in Lincoln, and they gathered at the Goodyear club room for their Thanksgiving dinner.

Information hosting the gathering for their relatives who live mostly in and near the Lincoln area were Cotner Terrace residents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Ward.

Twenty-seven members of the Ward family were on hand for the day's festivities. Those, we should mention, included Mr. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ward, of Superior, and his brother and sister-in-law and their family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Ward, Gayle and Roma who came from Mitchell for the celebration.

And making the short but pleasant visit to Omaha for the holiday were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rost and their children, Martin, Arthur, and Billie Joe. In Omaha, they were the Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. Rost's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rost and Bernita and Eric.

Earlier that same day, the Rev. and Mrs. Morningstar did some entertaining of their own, as they hosted their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Morningstar and Cheri, and Eldon Elsherry, at a Thanksgiving breakfast.

On Friday, the Rev. and Mrs. Morningstar and Carolyn journeyed to Royal where they spent the rest of the weekend with the Earl Elsherry and Eldon.

And finally comes the news of a Lincoln resident who is in Denver, Colo. visiting her new grandson. Mrs. Rex Winders will be visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney White, and their new baby boy, (who hasn't yet been named), for two more weeks.

After leaving Denver, she will meet Mr. Winders in Casper, Wyo., and the two plan on about a week's vacation in that area before returning to Lincoln.

CHATTER in the CORRIDOR

By KATHIE WATTS
Congratulations Bolts on the fine football team! These boys have really worked their hardest to give Pius one of the best seasons it has ever had. After their last game at Bishop Ryan, Pius' record is 6 wins, 1 tie, and 2 losses. This is a record to be proud of. Congratulations Bolts on the fine work!

Conventions have highlighted the scene these last three weeks. One of them was the Diocese C. Y. O. Convention. Lincoln was the host to the surrounding towns. Each parish sent its own representatives. Pius is very proud of George Lonnquist, a junior, in winning the vice-presidency of the convention. Another convention was the Journalism Clinic held on the University Campus, November 9 and 10. Many students from Pius took part.

At the awards luncheon Betty Aandal received an award for headline writing and Cheryl McQuillan for year-book copy writing. The last meeting on the agenda was the Student Council meeting at Southeast. Various members from Pius took part.

Last week the Juniors took the I. T. E. D. tests. A variety of subjects were covered. The results will be back in the middle of December.

The Juniors are busily preparing for their play, "The Little Dog Laughed." It will be held November 30 and December 1, at 8 o'clock at the Pius auditorium.

The play, under the direction of Sister Agnes Ricarda O.B. is a three-act comedy consisting of a double cast. Those having the leads are Barbara Barlow, Mary Eileen Bartlett, Claire Charneki, Mike Schamp, Steve Drozda, Paul York, George Lonnquist, Nancy Jo Martin, Mary Jo Sharrar and Barbara Wigert. Tickets for the play may be obtained at the door. Plan on attending.

That's all for now. See you soon!

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. George Stolzenburg had more or less of a double celebration last Saturday. The evening began with Mr. and Mrs. Stolzenburg celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary when they joined 14 of their friends at dinner.

When the group returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stolzenburg for an evening of cards, announcement was made by Mr. and Mrs. Stolzenburg of the engagement of their daughter, Mary Margaret, to A3C. Larry Case, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Case of Parma, Mo.

A June wedding is planned.

Miss Stolzenburg will be graduated from Lincoln High School in June. Airman Case Air Force Base.

The bidding:
South	West	North	East
1♥	1♠	2♣	Pass
2♥	2♠	4♥

Opening lead — jack of spades.

Even in the top echelons of bridge there is a considerable difference of opinion about the proper bidding and play of certain types of hands.

For example, take this deal played in the national team of four championship a few years ago.

The bidding shown occurred at the first table. South made a light opening bid of a heart, over which West said a spade and North two clubs. In an effort to slow partner down, South rebid his hearts instead of raising clubs, but this didn't stop North from jumping to four (justifiably) at the next opportunity.

West led a spade. Declarer took it with the queen and returned a trump, won with the king. West then led the ten of spades, on which declarer played the king from dummy. East ruffed low and South overruffed.

Declarer then led another trump, the ace and queen falling together on the trick, and later guessed the location of the queen of clubs to make four hearts. He lost, all together, two hearts and a diamond.

This was the bidding at the second table:

South	West	North	East
Pass	3♠	Pass	Pass

South, who had previously appraised his hand as unworthy of an opening bid, decided it was now worth four hearts, vulnerable, after West had opened the bidding with three spades.

At this table, also, West led the jack of spades, taken with the queen. Declarer played a heart, which lost to the king, and got the ten of spades returned, the same as at the first table.

But here came a parting of the ways. East ruffed the king of spades with the queen instead of a low trump and returned a diamond to establish the setting trick. It did not matter that declarer subsequently trapped East's queen of clubs — the damage had already been done.

South went down one at this table, losing three hearts and a diamond as a result of East's alert defense.

AUTOMATIC TOOTHBRUSH

Give the Christmas Gift of Better Dental Care

If the General Electric Cordless Automatic Toothbrush saves you time in cleaning your teeth, that is fine with us. Or if you find it more convenient to use than an ordinary toothbrush, we are happy about that, too.

But—we hasten to point out that these are not the reasons why we devoted years to clinical research and made the largest grant of money ever invested in the study of toothbrushing.

We designed, tested and perfected the General Electric Automatic Toothbrush for just one purpose—to give you and your family the best home dental care in the safest possible way.

Every dentist in America has been given a summary of the technical reports and is kept informed of our progress. In fact, over 24,000 dentists have already purchased the toothbrush. And five out of ten people who bought it tell us it was recommended by their dentist.

At this very moment, we are continuing our research in such areas as control of tooth decay and gum disease. Meanwhile, of this you can be sure:

The General Electric Cordless Automatic Toothbrush will give your whole family healthful gum care and cleaner teeth than ordinary handbrushing.

The smallest child can use it with complete safety. There is no cord. Power is supplied by an automatically recharging battery.

The General Electric Cordless Automatic Toothbrush comes complete with power handle, recharging stand and four separate toothbrush inserts—one for each member of the family.

We leave it to you to decide if your family's teeth are worth the cost.

Or you can ask your dentist.

Building Inspector Halted Gold Building

... AFTER FIRE ZONE RESTRICTIONS OVERLOOKED

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

City Building Inspector Ed Vorhees Tuesday said his office halted construction on Gold's Car Care Center at 10th and N after discovering fire zone restrictions had been overlooked in issuing a building permit.

After the error was discovered, Vorhees said he consulted with the architects, fire officials and Public Works Director D. L. Erickson in working out a solution for the problem.

"We decided the best way out was to amend the building code," Vorhees said. "It has been amended for other jobs."

The City Council held up the proposed code amendments Monday after learning the changes were being tailored to Gold's building.

One councilman questioned how the building permit error, necessitating the proposed code changes, could have gotten by the building inspector.

Vorhees said Tuesday that his office, not the fire inspector, caught the construction non-conformity—in contrast to a statement Monday by Public Safety Director Emmett Jung to the council.

The council has called for reports next Monday from the building inspector and fire chief.

Vorhees said the building permit was issued July 10, but he didn't discover until September that "I had overlooked the unprotected metal construction requirements" for the second fire zone.

Worked Out

He said construction was only temporarily halted until proposed building code changes had been worked out in consultation with the various parties concerned.

He said Fire Chief Roscoe Benton has no objections to changes from the fire safety viewpoint.

Explaining his oversight, Vorhees said building plans and other details were pushed through in two working days instead of the normal two weeks' review period for the larger construction jobs.

Presently, the city code permits unprotected metal buildings up to 2,500 square feet in the second fire zone.

The proposed code amendment, virtually tailored to Gold's building, would permit a 7,400 square-foot structure conditioned on setbacks of 45 feet from the side lot lines and 25 feet from the rear, installation of one-hour fire resistant material on wooden studs and installation of an approved fire detection system.

Atop Undergrounds

The automotive service building is centered atop an underground parking garage covering a quarter city block.

Vorhees said the building would not be a fire hazard to adjoining property, but said "unprotected metal construction" can buckle and warp under intense heat.

He said some building codes require 60 to 80 feet of separation, but the proposed 45 feet in the Lincoln code is reasonable.

Nathan Gold, chairman of Gold & Co., stated Tuesday that "Gold's has no desire or intentions of infringing upon or violating any ordinance."

He said his company went through normal building channels of relying on its architects, Davis and Wilson and was unaware of any discrepancies when the building permit was issued by the city.

Conferred

After later being advised of discrepancies with the fire zone code, Gold said his company immediately conferred with its architects and city officials.

Gold said plans for the car care center were supplied by the lessee, B. F. Goodrich Co., but were reviewed by Davis and Wilson for modification to meet local requirements. He said similar buildings had been built in other cities.

Vorhees, apparently surprised by the council's holding action on the proposed ordinance, said "I thought the ordinance would go right through."

"Building code changes have been questioned before," he said. "I thought the council would go along with it."

Vorhees also said this "is not the first time the city has altered its code for a specific building. One example is the 12th and P parking garage with the overhead ramp."

AIRMAN MUST FACE MILITARY CHARGES

... Cleared By Civil Authorities

Mountain Home, Idaho (AP)—Air Force authorities announced Tuesday night that a young California airman, cleared by civil authorities, still must face military charges of murdering the wife and son of an airman friend.

Gerald M. Anderson of San Diego, Calif., has been charged with the murders of both Mrs. Nancy Joy Johnson and her son, Danny, last April.

Col. Charles M. Allard, commander of Mountain Home Air Force Base, said the 24-year-old airman would be immediately hospitalized for psychiatric evaluation and "determination of his mental responsibility and capacity" before further action is taken on the charge, however.

Jailed By AF

Anderson, declared innocent by a civil court Monday of the double murder after another man took the blame, was jailed by the Air Force 5 hours after he stepped from the courtroom arm-in-arm with his wife.

Maj. John Duree, legal officer for the 15th Air Force, came here from March Field, Calif., to review the written reports and tape recorded testimony received by Air Force investigators prior to the filing of civil murder charges against Anderson.

The records include a confession signed by the airman, but later repudiated.

Officials said Duree's investigation would take from 24 to 48 hours, but it is expected to be ready by the time of the hearing at 11 a.m. (CST) Wednesday.

Robert McLaughlin, one of Anderson's attorneys, said he received an anonymous telephone call Tuesday reporting the military had searched Anderson's trailer home here Monday night.

But McLaughlin said a check showed no search had been made.

"There is no reason to conclude at this point," the attorney said, "that the Air Force is taking any other than a routine approach to Airman Anderson's eventual release."

Breach of Rights

McLaughlin termed Anderson's new confinement as an "absolute breach of his rights and greatly in excess of the breach of his rights we have witnessed to this date."

An Air Force legal officer said that Anderson's confinement followed military procedure since he technically has not been cleared of the murder charge by the Air Force.

Anderson spent 7 months in jail awaiting trial for the rape-slaying of Mrs. Johnson and the killing of her son.

But last week Theodore Thomas Dickie, 22, Boise, said he killed Mrs. Anderson and her son. Dickie was being held on a first degree murder charge in the rape slaying of a 10-year-old Boise, Idaho, girl.

Prisoner Cole Tries Suicide Second Time

James E. Cole, 26, a federal "bullpen" prisoner in city jail, tried to commit suicide again early Tuesday, police said.

On Nov. 17, Cole slashed his right wrist with a razor blade. His cuts were treated at a hospital.

Sunday evening he tried to escape, knocking Jailer Jack Marquette unconscious with a water-filled hair oil bottle. Cole's attempt was thwarted.

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said his office has charged Cole with attempted escape.

Investigating a commotion in the bullpen Tuesday, police found Cole in a corner with cuts on both arms.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where 17 stitches closed the wounds, then returned to jail.

Police had no idea how Cole got the razor blades he used in each attempt.

Douglas said Cole will be transferred Wednesday to the Federal Medical Center at Springfield, Mo.

Centennial Planners OK 3 Bill Ideas Including $1 Million Tax Plan

The Lincoln Star 13
Wednesday, Nov. 28, 1962

The Nebraska Centennial Commission Tuesday approved 3 proposed bills for consideration by the 1963 Legislature, including one asking for a 1-14th mill levy (.07) for 4 years to raise about $1,176,000 to finance the Centennial.

The other two proposals would broaden commission authority to develop plans for the 1967 celebration and establish definite terms for commission members.

The commission previously hired Lincoln attorney Robert Crosby as counsel and asked him to explore various avenues of proposed legislation concerning commission authority and means of centennial financing.

Following Crosby's presentation of various suggestions Tuesday, the group approved the proposals it found most suitable and authorized Crosby to draft legislation for introduction in 1963.

The decision favoring a special levy came after the commission rejected a possible alternate which would have added 2% to the tax on parimutuel betting.

Richard Shugrue, representing Ayres & Associates of Lincoln which is handling Centennial advertising and promotion, said Sen. Joe Vosoba of Wilber recently suggested the additional parimutuel tax as a method of raising money for the celebration without adding to the property tax.

If parimutuel betting maintains its present rate, Shugrue said, the added 2% would produce about $3 million over the next 5 racing seasons.

Commission members were quick to reject this proposal, however, with Francis Dischner of Columbus saying it would "saddle the entire cost of the Centennial on one group of people."

After deciding $1 million was the minimum needed to do a "first class job" on the Centennial, the commission approved the 1-14th mill levy route.

Under the proposal to broaden its authority, the commission is recommending a bill which would empower it to develop programs for a suitable observance, and carry them out.

It now has authority only to adopt rules and regulations for such plans.

On member's terms, the commission noted that present law contains no reference to definite terms. In interests of continuity, the commission directed Crosby to draft a bill for terms to run from appointment until June 30, 1968.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has held that where appointments are for definite terms, a governor can remove members only "for cause."

The Reunion

Rip Engle took time out from fretting about Gator Bowl plans Tuesday morning to visit the Nebraska football offices before heading back to Penn State.

And the successful coach had a surprise reunion. Pat Fischer, former Husker standout now a defensive halfback with the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL, stopped by to visit with brother Cletus.

When he was introduced to Pat, the Penn State coach thought a minute, then said:

"If I recall correctly, you did a pretty good job of returning a kickoff against us the last time I was here."

Pat confessed he was the culprit whose 86-yard stunner paved the way for Nebraska's 14-7 win over the Nittany Lions in 1958.

Rip smiled and said, "You know, that was the first time in 29 years of coaching that anyone ever ran back a kickoff for a touchdown against a team of mine."

Engle said a similar event took place this fall, although the runback didn't do any damage to the Lions who wound up 9-1.

"I thought about you at the time," Rip told Pat.

Incidentally, Pat's back-breaker against Penn State came in his first game in Husker togs. The last of the Fischers was slated for several more game-winning stunts before he graduated—against Pittsburgh that same year, in the Oklahoma game in 1959 and the Texas, Army and Oklahoma games of 1960.

No Rough Stuff

Engle has a definite philosophy about post-season games—"make it as much fun as possible, with the least amount of contact."

Penn State will be going after its 3rd straight bowl victory in the Gator Bowl.

"That's something that just doesn't happen," Rip said softly. "I'd be awfully happy if we could do it."

Engle recalled that last year before the Gator Bowl, the Lions took it real easy.

"We had 5 minutes of goal-line scrimmage for each unit—and that was all," he said. "About this time of year football becomes a drag for the boys, and if you don't know by now who can play and who can't you'll never find out."

Rip said the Penn State squad is involved with quarter exams this week, and he's going to give them next week off.

"We'll start practice again on Dec. 15," he said. "If the boys want to be home for Christmas, we'll go down to North Carolina and work for a while, then fly them back home for Christmas. But if they don't feel real strongly about being home for Christmas, we'll probably go south and just stay, probably at St. Augustine again."

Engle pointed out that the weather prohibits much practice at College Station.

"We'll work at home as long as possible, but we can't count on getting much done there," he said. "Once the ground freezes solid, we're all through."

Baker Shades Mira, Myers As Top QB

Chicago, (UPI) — Terry Baker of Oregon State shaded George Mira of Miami (Fla.) and Tom Myers of Northwestern in a close battle as the nation's No. 1 quarterback on the 1962 All-America football team selected Tuesday by the American Football Coaches Association.

Picking the no. 1 quarterback was the "most difficult decision in the 1962 voting," according to Bill Murray, head football coach at Duke and president of the Coaches Association. Murray and some 250 coaches representing all the major colleges, took part in the balloting for the mythical 11.

The coaches selected 3 men each from the South, Midwest and Far West and one each from the East and the Southwest. They did their selecting on the basis of on-the-field observations, scouting report data and analysis of game movies.

Because of the heavy turnover of talent due to graduation there was only one repeater from the coaches' 1961 team — tackle Bobby Bell of Minnesota.

Here are the 11 players chosen as the best in the land at their positions by the coaches association.

Ends — Pat Richter, Wisconsin, and Hal Bedsole, Southern California.

Tackles — Bell and Steve Barnett, Oregon.

Guards — Johnny Treadwell, Texas, and Rufus Guthrie, Georgia Tech.

Center — Lee Roy Jordan, Alabama.

Quarterback — Baker.

Halfbacks — Jerry Stovall, Louisiana State, and Roger Kochman, Penn State.

Fullback — George Saines, Michigan State.

All of the members of the team are seniors with the exception of Bedsole, who is a junior.

The second team was made up of ends, Dave Robinson, Penn State, and Hugh Campbell, Washington State; tackles, Jim Dunaway, Mississippi, and Bob Vogel, Ohio State; guards, Jack Cvercko, Northwestern, and Ray Mansfield, Washington; center, Dave Behrman, Michigan State; quarterback, Mira; halfbacks, Mel Renfro, Oregon, and Kermit Alexander, U.C.L.A.; and fullback, Bill Thornton, Nebraska.

The 3rd team was comprised of ends, Tom Hutchinson, Kentucky, and Vern Burke, Oregon State; tackles, Fred Miller, LSU., and Scott Appleton, Texas; guards, Don Brumm, Purdue, and Tom Hertz, Missouri; center, Don McKinnon, Dartmouth; Quarterback, Myers; halfbacks, Eldon Fortie, Brigham Young, and Billy Gambrell, South Carolina; and fullback, Ed Cummings, Stanford.

BAKER HEISMAN WINNER

Oregon State Quarterback Nips LSU's Jerry Stovall

... NATIONAL TOTAL OFFENSE CHAMP

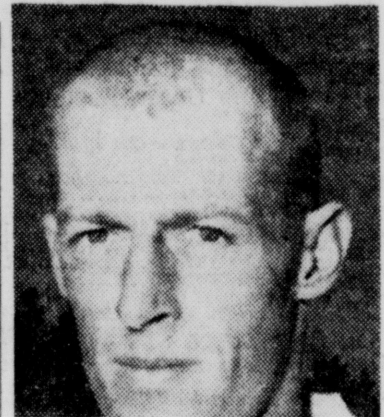

New York (AP)—Phenomenal Terry Baker, the Oregon State honor student who played football by accident, was named winner Tuesday of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding performer in the college game.

The T-formation quarterback and mechanical engineering brain won in a close race with Louisiana State halfback Jerry Stovall.

The poll of 1,109 accredited sports writers and broadcasters gave Baker 707 points to 618 for Stovall.

Southpaw

Baker is a remarkable southpaw passer and a deceptive runner with long, looping strides who has climbed to second place in the all-time career total offense leaders. His 4,980 yards for 3 years of varsity competition is topped only by Johnny Bright of Drake, a star of a dozen years ago, who gathered 5,903.

Baker has sewed up the 1962 national total offense title with 2,276 yards and rates 3rd among passers.

Folks in Corvallis believe Baker is the most exceptional scholar-athlete produced by college football since Pete Dawkins of Army won the Heisman Trophy in 1958. Baker is 21, stands 6 feet 3 and weighs 191 pounds.

Prothro Praises

Oregon State coach Tommy Prothro says: "Baker is the type of athlete every coach searches for—the great athlete with exceptional intelligence."

Baker came to Oregon State on a basketball scholarship after starring in 3 sports at Jefferson High in Portland, Ore. He did not even turn out for freshman football.

Passing by the practice field the spring of his freshman year, Baker got a yen for football and decided to give the college game a try.

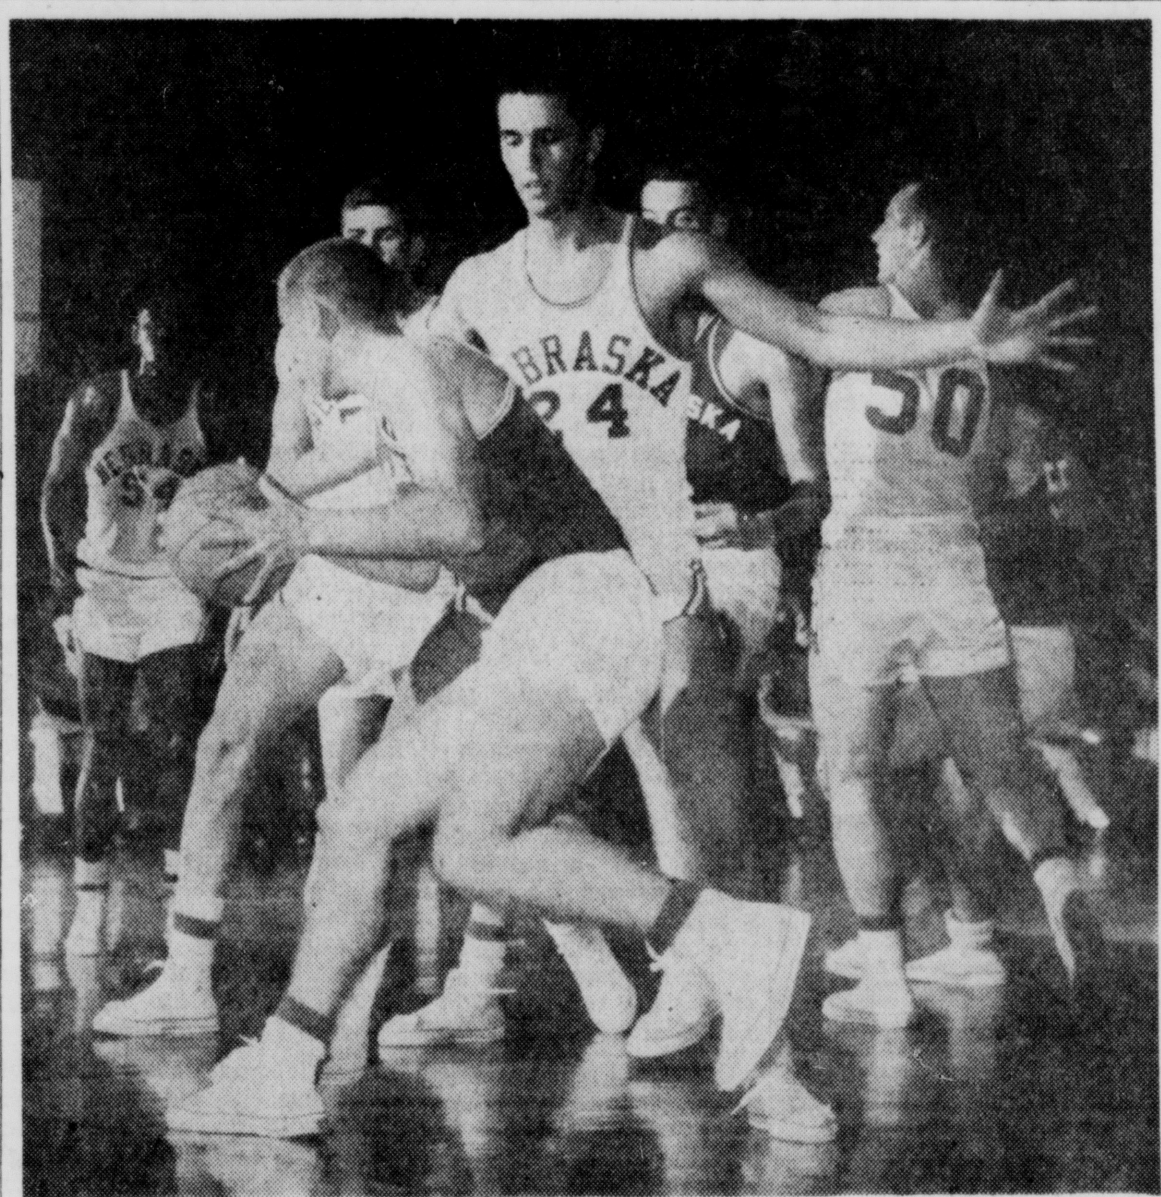

Switch To T

He shared the single wing tailback assignment as a sophomore and last year Prothro switched to the T, which he felt was better suited to Baker's many talents.

Baker was also one of the nation's better punters.

Linemen got their share of recognition in the balloting, too. Minnesota tackle Bobby Bell and Alabama center Lee Roy Jordan were 3-4 in the voting while Wisconsin end Pat Richter was 6th.

Quarterbacks George Mira of Miami, Billy Lothridge of Georgia Tech and Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin finished 5th, 8th and 9th, respectively. Michigan State fullback George Saines was 7th and Brigham Young tailback Eldon Fortie 10th.

Husker Varsity Coasts By Freshmen, 78-44

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska's varsity cagers scored a relatively easy 78-44 victory over coach Bob Gates' freshman quintet Tuesday night despite a shaky opening 10 minutes.

Jerry Bush's varsity 5 took advantage of liberal substitutions by Gates to roll up the 34-point advantage. The Husker varsity had trouble in the first 10 minutes of the contest, but then began to make hay as the freshman substitutes took over for the starting 5.

The freshman starting quintet of Grant Simmons, Woody Dismuke, Coley Webb, John McPherson and Henry Granger took the lead at 1-0 on a free throw by Dismuke with 1:10 gone and increased it to 5 points at 15-10 with 9 minutes gone on a hook shot by Dismuke.

The varsity had trouble finding the range in the early going and didn't gain the lead until Ivan Grupe connected on a jump shot with 9:40 left in the opening half to give the varsity a 16-15 edge.

The varsity then continued to add to its lead, gaining an 11-point advantage at 28-17 when little Dennie Puelz swiped the ball and drove in for the layup with 4:24 remaining.

The frosh closed the gap to 8 points a couple of times before the half ended with the varsity holding a 33-24 lead.

Frosh Trouble

Bush's cagers started the second half where they left off in the first period, taking advantage of the freshmen's inability to hit the bucket.

The frosh managed only one field goal in the first 6½ minutes of the second half as the varsity built its lead to 47-29 with Daryl Petsch and Bill Vincent leading the way. From that point it was just a matter of what the final score would be as the varsity steadily increased the margin.

When Puelz stole the ball again and sunk the layin with slightly less than two minutes remaining the varsity enjoyed its biggest lead of the night at 76-42. After Dismuke hit a set shot to make it 76-44, Puelz came back to give the varsity a 34-point advantage once again as the game ended.

Bush's varsity had 3 men in double figures as Petsch led with 15 followed by Grupe with 14 and Jones with 10.

Coley Webb led the frosh with 11 while Granger contributed 9.

An estimated 1,500 fans watched the action from the balcony seats since the bleachers have not been erected yet.

The Huskers open the regular campaign Saturday night at Texas Tech and play Houston Monday night before returning home to meet the Air Force Academy Dec. 8.

—HELMET DRAWS ATTENTION—

Coaches Main Concern Is Head, Neck Protection

Last of a Series

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Nebraska high school football coaches are most concerned about neck and head protection for their players. This was revealed in a survey of prep coaches, instigated primarily to gauge the acceptance of dental mouthpieces.

In answer to "what other protective device ideas do you recommend to reduce prep football injuries?", the helmet drew 60% of the comments.

Most coaches recommend padding on the outside of the helmet. This trend wasn't for the safety of the youngster underneath the helmet necessarily, but more for the opponent who gets the force of the hard surface during contact.

Foam rubber padding was mentioned as a possible solution.

Face masks, now a part of the helmet, were a controversial item with as many coaches favoring the mask, with modifications, as wanted it completely removed.

One opinion was that a pliable mask would reduce injuries. Others felt the mask should be closer to the face, farther from the face, and wider to protect a larger area.

Another prominent subject was neck protection, with most stating that the shoulder pads or helmets should have additional protection for the neck.

Statistics on prep football injuries show that 38% of all hurts are below the waist (thigh, leg, knee, foot).

With this obviously in mind, some coaches called for improved conditioning and training techniques before games and more rigid officiating during the contests.

One coach wittingly said: "Throw away the car keys."

University High Expected To Be Near Top In Class B

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Near the bottom of Class B in size . . . but not in basketball.

So sits Lincoln University High, a school which passes football and concentrates heavily on the roundball sport.

The Tutors, guided by veteran coach Dale Snook, are expected to make a run for the Class B championship. And they may even be better than last year's team, one of the top 20 ranked B teams.

Snook has good height and good shooters. He has experience plus some newcomers. Established regulars are George Zarins, 6-3 forward who was Lincoln's top scorers last year, and Steve Butts, a cat-quick 5-10 guard. The two seniors played first string last year.

Height or Speed

Around these two will come a combination of players, depending on whether strategist Snook wants height or speed.

The big boys are the Butcher twins, 6-2 Jim and Jerry, senior lettermen; and sophomore Dave Butler, a 6-4 lad with great promise. All 3 lettered a year ago with Jim Butcher starting until an injury shelved him.

The speed department will be boosted by lettermen Danny Keyser, 5-9, two-handed shooter; Clair Cooley, 5-9 senior, and sophomore transfer Ron Schroeder.

Schroeder comes from Ralston where he sported a 25-point average on the reserve team last year.

He is 5-10 and may crack the starting lineup. Butler also has a good chance at starting, according to Snook.

Snook is encouraged by his height and prospects of good scoring balance. "They have been working well together in practice," says Snook. "They could come around into a good team."

The Tutors open Dec. 7 at home against Geneva. It will be the first of 8 home games.

University High has 106 boys. The breaking point in Class B and C is 99 boys, according to Nebraska Schools Activities Association figures.

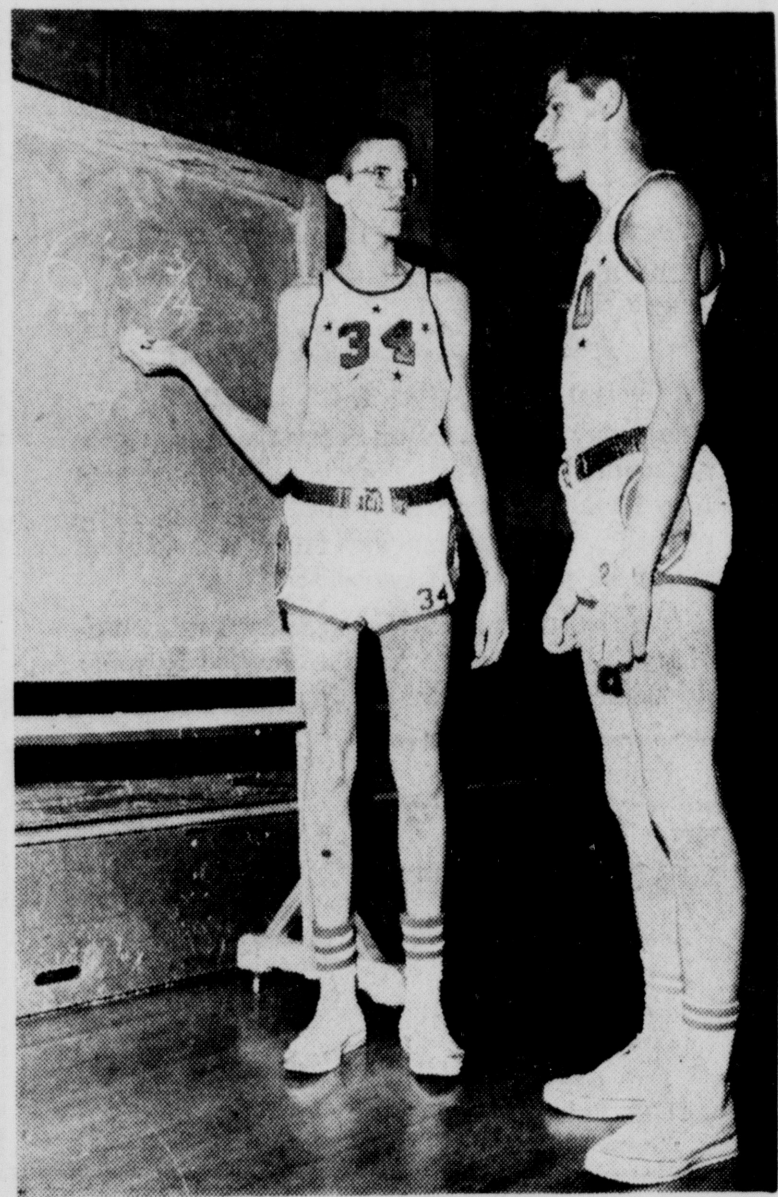

The Tutors play two Class A teams, Nebraska City and Lincoln Pius X, plus the biggest two B schools, Omaha Cathedral and Blair.

Adcock Goes To Indians As Swap Fest Continues

Rochester, N.Y. (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves traded veteran first baseman Joe Adcock and left-handed pitcher Jack Curtis to the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night for right-handed pitcher Frank Funk and outfielder Don Dillard.

The 35-year-old Adcock obviously was the big man in the trade. He has been with the Braves since 1954 after breaking into the majors with Cincinnati in 1950.

A long-ball hitter, Adcock finished last season with a .248 batting average and 29 home runs in 121 games.

Curtis, used mainly in relief, had a 4-6 record last year and a 4.02 earned run average.

Dillard, who also can play first base, did considerable pinch-hitting for the Indians and wound up with a .230 mark. He had 5 home runs. Funk, also a relief pitcher, had a 2-1 record. He pitched only 31 1-3 innings.

It was the 4th inter-league trade since Wednesday's opening and the 3rd there in 3 days.

Curtis immediately was assigned to the Indians' Jacksonville International League farm club.

The acquisition of Adcock will enable the Indians to send Tito Francona back to left field. Francona, normally an outfielder, was pressed into service at first base last season.

"In getting Adcock we are getting the long ball hitter we need," said Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts. "Also, he has a high lifetime batting average .282. Remember, our team had a .245 batting average last year, the worst in the majors."

From the Braves' standpoint, the key man was Funk. They have been in need of a good relief pitcher and Manager Bragan said he thinks the 25-year-old Funk will fill the bill.

"We expect him to be a tremendous relief pitcher for us," Bragan observed.

The Philadelphia Phillies unloaded Jim Owens, the 32-year-old right-handed pitcher who left the club in spring training in 1961 and turned up tending bar in Pennsylvania. Owens rejoined the club in mid-season and compiled a 5-10 record that year, but dropped to 2-4 with only one complete game in 1962.

Owens went to Cincinnati where manager Fred Hutchinson will try to help him recover his form of 1959 when every club in the league was after him. Cincinnati gave up Cookie Rojas, the Cuban second baseman who hit .221 for the Reds in 39 games and wound up the season with Dallas-Fort Worth.

The hungry New York Mets of the National League bought Wynn Hawkins, a 26-year-old right-handed pitcher from Cleveland

Cincinnati Tops First Cage Poll

New York (UPI)—Cincinnati's NCAA champion Bearcats, twice over-looked in favor of Ohio State, Tuesday were named most likely to emerge as the nation's No. 1 major college basketball team in 1962-63 by the United Press International board of coaches.

The Bearcats, boasting two members of the NCAA championship teams of the past two seasons in Tom Thacker and Tony Yates, were picked to finish No. 1 this season by 30 of the 35 coaches who comprise the UPI rating board.

The UPI rating board is made up of 5 coaches from each of the nation's 7 geographical regions. Each week they will rate the top 10 teams in the country, awarding their selections 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 points for votes from first through 10th.

On that basis, the coaches piled up a near perfect 343 points for Cincinnati in their pre-season forecast. Of the 5 coaches who did not pick the Bearcats first, 4 named them second and one picked them for 3rd.

Hoppmann Captures 3rd Straight Conference Total Offense Crown

Lincoln Star Special

Kansas City Mo. — Oklahoma's return as king of the Big 8 Conference football teams may have surprised most fans this year, but there wasn't any shock involved in the outcome of the battle for individual total offense honors.

Although he trailed for a couple of weeks midway through the season, Iowa State's Dave Hoppmann came back in the final stages to capture his 3rd consecutive conference title. Hoppmann ranked 3rd in rushing with 798 yards and 4th in passing with 679, for a total of 1,477. Runner-up Dennis Claridge of Nebraska gained 370 on the ground and threw for 829 and a total of 1,199.

Oklahoma still has one hurdle to clear in order to take a perfect conference record into the Orange Bowl Game New Year's Day. The Sooners meet Oklahoma State in the finale Saturday. For the second straight year the Big 8 will have two teams in bowl games, with Missouri going to the Bluebonnet game in Houston Dec. 22.

Oklahoma still has a chance to overtake Nebraska for the league's total offense crown. The Huskers now lead with a 347.5 average a game, and OU is 4th at 3,093 yards for a 343.7 average. Kansas has 3,291, and Iowa State 3,114, but both have completed their seasons.

Gale Sayers of Kansas won the individual rushing title with 1,125 yards on 158 carries, giving him 3rd place in the national rankings. MU's John Roland finished as runner-up with 830 yards on 159 attempts. Oklahoma's Joe Don Looney could move higher than his present 4th-place spot at 751 if he has a big day against the Cowpokes.

Oklahoma State's Mike Miller has clinched passing honors with 936 yards on 71 completions in 154 tries. Claridge ranks second at 829 on 56 of 123, and Colorado's Frank Cesarek is 3rd at 786 on 78 of 168.

Although Colorado's regular ends, John McGuire and Ken

Blair, are in the top two spots in receiving, Don Karns of Oklahoma State will have an opportunity to surpass both in next Saturday's game against Oklahoma. McGuire has snagged 36 for 376 yards, Blair 35 for 356. Karns' record now stands at 20 for 307.

Looney took punting honors with a nation-leading 43.8 average on 33 boots. K-State's Doug Dusenbury, who kicked only 10 times, finished second at 41.7.

OU's only other individual leader is Paul Lea, who has hauled back 15 punts for a 15.7 average. Iowa State's Dick Limerick climbed to second place at 14.2 on 9 returns.

Roland failed to add to his 78 points against Kansas but wound up with a 12-point bulge for top honors in scoring over Hoppmann. Claridge was 3rd with 64, and Iowa State's Tom Vaughn 4th with 60.

USC Still Rates 1st With UPI

New York (UPI)—Southern California and Wisconsin, who clash in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day, ranked 1-2 Tuesday in the United Press International Board of coaches next-to-last weekly ratings.

Southern California, which hopes to complete its first perfect season in 20 years against Notre Dame next Saturday, received 22 first place votes from the UPI board of coaches. The Trojans lead runnerup Wisconsin by 48 points with a total of 322.

Wisconsin and 3rd-ranked Mississippi each drew 5 first-place votes. Fourth-ranked Texas, 8th-ranked Oklahoma and 9th-ranked Penn State each picked up one vote for the top spot.

With the exception of Minnesota, all of the top 10 teams have accepted bowl berths or are in the process of taking bowl bids. Texas is set for the Cotton Bowl against L.S.U.; Arkansas probably will play Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl; Oklahoma's likely opponent in the Orange Bowl is Alabama and Penn State will play in the Gator Bowl.

CAMPBELL IS TOP LINEMAN

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press
Sports Writer

Hugh Campbell, Washington State's spectacular-pass-catching end, was named The Associated Press' Lineman of the Week Tuesday for his stirring final performance in losing cause against Washington.

The 6-foot 1-inch, 189-pound senior caught 10 passes for 178 yards and one touchdown as his team bowed to favored

Washington 26-21 after holding the Huskies even for 3 quarters last Saturday.

Campbell closed out his 3 year varsity career with major college records of 176 catches and 2,453 yards. His total of 22 touchdowns is only one behind the record.

Other highly rated nominee tackle Mike Briggs, and ends John Flynn and John Porterfield and center Wayne Lee of Oklahoma.

Briggs paced a Huskie line that held the Washington State Cougars to 15 yards rushing.

Among the other linemen praised for their fine work Saturday were:

Ends — John Hudson, Tennessee; Bill Craft, Rutgers; Bill Bows, Penn State; Ron Leafblad, Wisconsin.
Tackles — Bobby Greenshaw, Baylor; Ed Sleskey, Cornell; Alvin Lichardt, Princeton; Junior Hawthorne and Herschel Turner, Kentucky.
Guards — Tony Day, Columbia; Butch Maples, Baylor; Jack Perkovich, Minnesota; Wolf Dietrich, Yale.
Centers — John Hueshe, Southern Methodist; Don McKinnon, Dartmouth; Gary Moeller, Ohio State; Bill Bowers, Texas Christian.

Seward Boasts One Of Best In State

... BECKLER IS VETERAN

Seward—Dick Beckler, veteran cager at Seward, is one of the best Class B basketball players in the state.

The slick 6-footer will be after his 4th letter and has already played in two state tournaments.

Two other lettermen return from last year's state meet team, 6-2 seniors Bob Gleisberg and Rod Tonniges.

Schedule — Dec.—7, at Seward; 8, Fullerton; 14, at Geneva; 21, Beatrice; Jan.—11, at Central City; 18, Schuyler; 25, at Aurora; 26, Fairbury; Feb.—1, at Lincoln University High; 8, Columbus; 15, at York; 22, at Crest; 29, at Wahoo; March 2, David City.

Schuyler Faces Year With Height Shortage

Schuyler — The basketball forces at Schuyler will be looking up to the opposition this winter.

Just two of coach Gene Torczon's veterans are 6-feet tall—Bob Bohac and Wayne Kehrl, both 6-1.

Other lettermen—Don Cihacek, Mike Flynn, Ken Payzant, Leeroy Swanson. Schedule—Dec.—7, at Aurora; 14, at Central City; 21, Howells; Jan.—23, Wayne Invitational; 5, David City; 11, Ord; 18, at Seward; 25, at Clarkson; Feb.—1, North Bend; 8, at Ralston; 12, at Fullerton; 15, at Columbus; 22, Wahoo; 23, Columbus St. Bonaventure; March 1, York.

Sumner Pins Dreams On All-State Simmons

Sumner — All-stater Ron Simmons is back on the maples at Sumner.

The 6-1 center, who scored 647 points in 23 games, is only a junior.

Other lettermen—Doug Line, Jerry Reiter, Ron Wiseman, Lance Spellmeyer. Schedule—Dec.—7, at Mason City; 8, Kiwood; 14, at Elm Creek; 15, Lexington St. Ann's; 21, Hildreth; Jan.—4, at Loomis; 11, Axtell; 12, Arcadia; 18, at Pleasanton; 19, at Callaway; 25, Overton; 26, at West Kearney; Feb.—1, at Amherst; 2, Oconto; 8, Wilcox; 19, at Eustis.

1962 Champ Spencer Returns Two Starters

Spencer—The Class C state basketball champion has two of its starters returning.

Spencer's Pirates, who lost just once last year, will be leaning heavily on Paul Ohri and Roger Fisher. Other members of last year's championship team returning are Lawrence Sedlacek, Duane Filsinger, and Paul Hargens.

Graduated are the Kopecki brothers, Leonard and Ronnie, both Class C all-stars.

Schedule—Dec.—7, at Butte; 8, Center; 14, Burke, S.D.; 21, Bonesteel, S.D.; Jan.—15, Spencer Invite; 11, at Ewing; 12, at Lynch; 18, Niobrara; 19, at Stuart; 26, Springview; Jan. 29-Feb. 3, Three Rivers; 4-9, Lynch Invite; 15, at Atkinson; 16, at Atkinson St. Joseph; 22, at Verdigris.

Stromsburg Has Open Date On February 8

Stromsburg—A Feb. 8 open date is on Stromsburg's basketball schedule.

Horse Death Toll Cut

Wheeling, W.Va. (AP) — The death toll of horses that died in a fire which swept a stable at Wheeling Downs Race Track was revised downward Tuesday to 10. Earlier, 25 horses had been reported killed.

Named To Post

New York (AP) — Roger Kahn, former sports writer for the New York Herald Tribune and one time sports editor of Newsweek, has been named sports editor of the Saturday Evening Post.

Oregon State, Villanova In Liberty Bowl

Philadelphia (AP) — Oregon State Tuesday accepted an invitation to play Villanova in the 4th annual Liberty Bowl football game at Philadelphia Stadium Dec. 15.

The announcement was made by Bud Dudley, president of the Liberty Bowl, at a luncheon of the Philadelphia Football Writers Club.

Dudley said he hoped a game of this caliber, featuring Oregon's star quarterback, Terry Baker, and end Vern Burke, would draw 50,000 people.

Baker, a southpaw passer, led Oregon State to an 8-2 record. He led the nation this year in total offense and is the second ranked all-time offensive leader in college football, with 4,979 yards passing and rushing.

Burke is the nation's leading end in pass-receiving with a total of 1,007 yards. He is the first collegiate end to gain over 1,000 yards in a single season.

The Cardinals will play at Lincoln Northeast on Jan. 12.

Schedule—Dec.—7, LeMars, Ia.; 8, at Riverside, Ia.; 14, Leeds, Ia.; 15, at Sioux City East; 18, Sioux City Heelan; 21, Blair; Jan.—23, at Wayne Invite; 12, at Northeast; 19, at Omaha Bishop Ryan; 25, at Norfolk; Feb.—2, at Blair; 8, Wayne; 9, at Sioux City Heelan; 16, at Leeds, Ia.; 22, Fremont; March 2, Omaha Holy Name.

St. Paul Twins Hold Wildcat Cage Hopes

St. Paul—A set of twins are firmly entrenched in basketball plans at St. Paul High School.

They're easily distinguished, the sophomore Schenck boys.

Gerald is bigger (6-5), left-handed and a letterman. Harold is 6-2, right-handed and up from the reserve team.

The Wildcats, coached by Ron Bachman, a Nebraska Wesleyan graduate, won half of last year's 18 games.

Other lettermen—Jim Snow, Gene Anderson, Doug Leth, Paul Arterburn, Chuck Oakeson. Schedule—Dec.—7, Central City; 8, at Burwell; 14, at Wood River; Jan.—4, Loup City; 11, Ravenna; 18, at Ord; 19, Scotia-North Loup; 25, at Harvard; 26, Gibson; Feb.—1, Shelton; 8, Grand Island Catholic; 11-15, Louplait at Wood River; 19, at Fullerton; 22, Clarks; March 1, at Aurora.

Links Want To Play With Two Leagues

... NEW LOOP EYED

Lincoln High hopes to remain in the Intercity League as well as participating in a new prep league with two other Lincoln schools and Grand Island and Hastings.

This became evident Tuesday after an Intercity expansion talk in Omaha. Northeast and Southeast indicated they were not interested in joining the Omaha-dominated league.

Bill Pfeiff, director of activities at Lincoln High, said his school hopes the Intercity will arrive at two 6-team divisions.

Lincoln High's thoughts obviously run along the same line as Bellevue which proposed to the Intercity Monday that one division be composed of Lincoln High, Bellevue, Omaha Westside, two Omaha public schools, and a Catholic school. That left 3 public schools, Council Bluffs Abe Lincoln, and two new teams for another division.

Rangers, Twins Form Alliance

Rochester, N.Y. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins announced Tuesday a working agreement with the Dallas-Forth Worth Rangers of the American Association.

The new alliance was worked out between owner-general manager Ray Johnson of the Rangers and president Calvin Griffith and farm director Sherris Robertson of the Twins. Last season the Rangers worked with the Los Angeles Angels and Philadelphia.

Such a division would permit Lincoln High, Bellevue, and Westside to participate in both leagues, if they were in the same division of the Intercity.

The Intercity's expansion committee will submit a regular report next Monday at the league's regular business meeting.

Baltimore Fight Site?

Baltimore (AP) — Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston and his advisor, Jack Nilon, said Monday they want Baltimore as the site for the return championship bout with Floyd Patterson.

OK Given Mickle Addition Planning

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Preliminary planning for an 8 or 12 classroom addition to Robin Mickle Junior High at 67th and Walker got the go-ahead Tuesday from the Lincoln Board of Education.

The board also awarded contracts totalling $145,609 for Calvert Elementary School's addition of 4 classrooms, auditorium and kindergarten.

Supt. Steven Watkins said current enrollment of 673 pupils at Robin Mickle slightly exceeds the school's practical capacity of 650, but population growth projects 300 students over capacity within 5 years.

The board ordered alternative plans for 8 and 12 classrooms prepared as an aid in determining the cost differential of constructing 8 and adding 4 later or immediately building 12.

School officials indicated 12 additional classrooms might be needed in the more distant future and the architect is to allow for this in planning the addition.

The architectural firm of Unthank and Unthank, which planned the original building, was retained as architect for the addition.

School board members commented that the Mickle school district is "one of the fastest growing areas" and "building short (in the addition) could be false economy."

Under present construction condition, Watkins said, the new classrooms could be available by the fall of 1964.

Olson Construction Co. was awarded the $114,342 general contract for the Calvert addition. Mason Electric Co. was given the $11,976 electrical contract and Reinhardt Brothers the mechanical at $19,291.

Combined bids of $145,609 were well within the estimated $160,000 for the building. The square-foot price was $12.38.

Trucker Nabbed In Car He Stole

A truck driver from Sioux Falls, S.D., was arrested by Lincoln police Tuesday in connection with stealing a car from Jackson, Miss. Officers recovered the vehicle.

Capt. Robert Sawdon said the manager of the 22nd and Holdrege Safeway Store asked police to check a person in a car parked outside the store. It was the 31-year-old Dakotan.

"When the man was picked up," Sawdon added, "he admitted stealing the car from Jackson, Miss., and driving it to Lincoln."

Careless Mother

Arundel, England (UPI) — Mrs. Loveday Ann Stuart-Smith, 48, was fined $61.80 for letting her 8-year-old son play on an electrified railway line.

TOGETHER AGAIN

Taking part in a family songfest Tuesday night was 15-year-old Rosemary Sheppard, who left her parents' home in Tulsa, Okla., last summer to attend a public school. Rosemary returned to her parents' home last Friday for a visit but announced Tuesday she intends to stay. Her mother had been teaching her and her two brothers at home since they were taken from public schools 6 years ago. Pictured, from left, are her father, Roy C. Sheppard, her twin brother, Roy Gary; Rosemary, her mother, and her younger brother, Ray Gene.

HOLDING FIRM WANTS CURB REPLACEMENT LAW REPEALED

The City Council has been asked to rescind a resolution requiring the curb and sidewalk be replaced on 3 unused driveways to Reinvesco Corporation's parking lot on Q between 11th and 12th.

However, city officials point out that the plot plan, under which the council granted two curb cuts on 12th, shows full-width sidewalks and closing of the unused curb cuts.

Reinvesco, a holding company of Community Savings Stamps Co., has urged compliance be excused until Q street is widened.

But Not Now

City officials agree that a widened Q will be ultimately needed, but is not now projected in the 6-year capital improvement plan.

The traffic engineer has advised councilmen that unused curb cuts present an enforcement problem as well as a hazard to parking meters.

He said the suggestion of temporary barriers would cost nearly as much as curb replacement.

Under $1,000

Other officials have estimated curb replacement, totalling 90 feet, and full-width sidewalks would cost Reinvesco less than $1,000.

City ordinance requires full-width sidewalks in the downtown business district. Reinvesco constructed a 6-foot width instead of 20.

The council took no action on the curb and sidewalk replacement resolution passed two weeks ago, but indicated the matter would be discussed further next Monday.

State Department Drops Information Restrictions

Washington (UPI) — The State Department Tuesday lifted the last of the information restrictions it imposed during the Cuban crisis.

The regulations adopted during the height of the crisis required all department officials to report on their contacts and discussions with newsmen. Similar policies adopted by the Defense Department Oct. 27, however, remained in effect.

Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs Robert J. Manning announced the suspension of the regulations at the State Department. He cautioned that the procedures might be reinstated "if it becomes necessary or advisable."

It was the second time within a week that the government took steps to ease regulations concerning crisis information.

Last Tuesday, President Kennedy announced at his nationally televised news conference that the 12-point voluntary censorship system placed on military information was being suspended.

Kennedy said the 12 points "that we made to the press in regard to voluntary restraints on the movement of troops and so on," plus other policies, might have prevented a disaster during the Caribbean tension.

The separate regulations adopted by the State Department relating to conversations with newsmen were limited in effect.

They required that officials granting interviews during working hours "indicate to the Bureau of Public Affairs, after the event, the fact that an interview took place, the name of the correspondent and his organization and the general subject discussed."

Veteran department officials said that to the best of their recollection, similar types of rules have been in effect at the State Department from time to time over the past 25 years, but most died away quietly. In all cases, the rules were more stringent, usually requiring a full memorandum on the substance of the conversation, not just that one took place.

Amendment Is Needed To Elect Solons At Large

Attorney General Clarence Meyer advised Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln Tuesday that it will take a constitutional amendment to let counties with more than one legislator elect their senators at-large.

Commenting on the ruling, Sen. Orme said, "The opinion of the attorney general speaks for itself."

"I plan to have a bill drafted to submit the question to the voters. Without a doubt, the matter of voting at-large in counties or areas with more than one senator will become a part of the debate on reapportionment."

Only Lancaster and Douglas Counties presently have more than one senator.

Stock Market Climbs Again

New York (AP)—The stock market started off on an uncertain note Tuesday but gradually generated enough steam to register another substantial advance.

Trading activity dipped from the pace of the last two days but remained brisk enough to register the fourth consecutive 5-million-share session. Not since May 31-June 6, immediately following the big market break, have there been four straight days on which 5 million shares or more changed hands.

Demand for steel issues highlighted the session. The industry is now producing at above 60 per cent of capacity for the first time in nearly 7 months and has enjoyed other good news in the last day or so.

At the close the Dow Jones industrial average was up 5.99 at 648.05, within two points of the 650 level which technicians consider psychologically important. A number of analysts think this level will mark the top.

Grain Futures Rally Feeble

Chicago (AP)—A feeble rally tendency turned the grain futures market toward firmness Tuesday but gains were limited to small fractions except in wheat and rye.

Brokers said there were no significant new factors exerting an influence in the market and that the improved buying appeared to have been almost entirely of a speculative character.

Wheat derived its support largely from a good volume of business with considerably more expected before the weekend.

Wheat was 1/4 cent a bushel higher at the close, December 2.06 1/4; corn 1/4 cent higher, December 1.06 1/4; soybeans 1/4 cent higher, December 31.25 1/4; soybeans 1/4 cent higher to 1/2 cent lower, January 32.46 1/4.
